Leaves Home Where Wife Murdered

City Forester Darrel F. Parker, carrying suit and overcoat, leaves his Antelope Park home Thursday afternoon after reviewing with law officers the details of his finding his wife strangled on a bed in the home. With Parker is his boss and friend, Park Supt. Jim Ager, who carries a suitcase. Closing the door is Motorcycle Officer Bob Summers. (Star Staff Photo.)

Egyptians Threaten Full War

Israel Ready, But Urging Peace

CAIRO (INS) — Egypt served notice on the United Nations Thursday night that "the whole of her armed strength" will be hurled against Israel in a "collective" Arab action if there is any "further aggression" against Egypt and Syria.

The warning was sent to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold by Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser.

His government, muscled up by shiploads of Communist arms, recently signed an agreement with Syria setting up a unified military command under the Egyptian war minister, Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer.

The Egyptian foreign office Thursday night summoned diplomatic representatives of the nations of the U. N. Security Council and gave them a copy of Nasser's message.

Not Singly

It was emphasized to the diplomats Egypt would "meet aggression with aggression, henceforth, collectively, not singly."

The Security Council is scheduled to take up Syria's complaint against Israel's raid on Syrian border posts Sunday night, in which scores of Syrians were killed, wounded or captured.

Israel quickly responded to the Egyptian warning by offering a plan for peace by stages, starting with cessation of hostile acts, but warning it was ready to meet the threat of full-fledged war if Cairo wanted it. A spokesman in Tel Aviv said Israel hoped Nasser would choose peace.

A new, 15-minute Israeli-Egyptian clash occurred on the Gaza coastal strip area Thursday. Israel claimed Egypt opened fire first. No casualties were reported.

Syrian Premier Said El-Ghazzi said in Damascus, Iraq, a member of the Baghdad defense pact, had offered Syria military aid. He said the U. S., Britain and France had expressed deep regret over what was termed an "unprovoked raid" by Israel.

The Soviet ambassador in Damascus, Sergei Nemchin, asked the Syrian government for details of the Israeli raid and what it intended to do about it.

Worsening

PARIS (AP) — The Western Big Three foreign ministers agreed Thursday night that a combined American-British-French effort is needed to face the worsening situation in the Middle East.

Their decision came on the eve of the U.N. Security Council meeting in New York on Syria's appeal for measures to meet the situation resulting from the Israeli attack Sunday on the Sea of Galilee shores of Syria.

KIDS GET JET FOR PLAYTHING

Delighted children of Glen City elementary school in Santa Paula, Calif., clamber over a Thunderjet fighter plane, 10 years old and classified as surplus, which the Air Force gave them. Mrs. Ethel Hamilton, second grade teacher, wrote and asked for the plane in response to children's pleas. It will get a permanent concrete mount on the school's play ground. (AP Wirephoto.)

Many Angles Are Checked

. . . $3-4 Taken From Purse

Although authorities insisted they were not "back where they started" in the solution to the tragic broad daylight slaying of a young Lincoln woman in her own home, they were faced Friday with more routine checking of leads and suspects.

Meanwhile the possible motive in the death of Mrs. Nancy Ellen Parker, 22-year-old wife of City Forester Darrell Parker, was confused and a strong case wasn't built by police for either robbery or sex causes.

The possibility arose that a lie detector test may be given to a 37-year-old former Park Department employe who was taken southwest of Lincoln Thursday. But another suspect, also a former Park employe, was freed Thursday night after passing two lie machine tests.

Two other men were interviewed by police Thursday night, but immediately released.

Police Chief Joseph Carroll said only "three or four dollars" was taken from Mrs. Parker's purse, which he said was "all the money in the home" Wednesday morning when the young woman was strangled with a piece of brown wrapping cord.

Her engagement and wedding rings were left on her hand, the Chief said.

Sex Not Ruled Out

Sex motives were not entirely ruled out, according to Assistant Chief Eugene Masters, who pointed to removal and cutting of some of Mrs. Parker's clothing by the killer.

But autopsy reports, he added, showed no medical signs of rape.

Released late Thursday night was an ex-convict who owned a 1949 Ford—a type of car that has figured as a prominent lead to police—after he took and passed two lie detector tests. Earlier in the evening, he had been called by Carroll "our hottest suspect."

He told police he was sleeping at home on Wednesday morning, when the murder was committed.

Test Slated

Another lie detector test may be given Friday to a man who had worked for the Park Department several years ago. The man was found seven miles south and west of Lincoln Thursday morning by a farmer, who turned him over to authorities at the Men's Reformatory.

Authorities said he told an "incoherent story" and Carroll said it "may necessitate a lie detector test" Friday morning.

It was pointed out that the man does not have an automobile.

In a meeting with newsmen late Thursday night, Carroll answered a reporter's question about the progress in the case by asserting "We're not back where we started. Definitely not."

"We're putting a picture of the crime together. We're working in a more concise manner."

Man Cleared

The news conference was called to report on the clearing results of two lie detector tests administered a man in his thirties who was brought in during the evening. Lt. Bob Henninger of the Police Department administered the detector test first, and it was followed by one given by Sgt. Robert Nichols, a former State Safety Patrolman recently appointed superintendent of the Men's Reformatory.

Explaining that "three to four dollars" were removed from Mrs. Parker's purse and her engagement and wedding rings were left on her finger the morning she was slain, Carroll told newsmen "you can't pin down a sole motive."

New details in the case were released to newsmen, among them the "possible theory," as Carroll called it that Mrs. Parker could have been knocked unconscious by a blow to the cheek. Bruises were disclosed by the autopsy report, and Carol said they indicated the woman suffered a "powerful blow."

It was also revealed the milk man did not deliver that day and the mailman's route did not bring him close enough to the house to have noticed trouble.

Meanwhile Masters attempted to clear up the time of death, but his statements appeared contradictory to newsmen.

He said the autopsy showed Mrs. Parker apparently died "three to five hours before the autopsy," which was performed at a local hospital at 3 p.m. His statement indicated the death took place between 10 a.m. and noon, however he then added:

"I would place the time of death at 10 a.m. or before."

Meanwhile, the husband of the slain woman, who found his wife strangled on a bed in their Antelope Park cottage when he returned home for lunch, released the body for burial. Funeral services are to be Saturday afternoon in Des Moines, Ia., the girl's home.

The county attorney said investigation of the Parker home was completed. A final inspection was made Thursday afternoon by Lancaster County Attorney Elmer Scheele, Eugene Masters, assistant police chief, and Everett Rudisil, police department fingerprint expert.

Parker Gives Aid

Scheele said Parker aided in the investigation. It was through his help that it was determined that a "small amount" of currency was missing from the young home-economists' purse.

Other items in addition to the money were reported stolen, but identification was withheld by Scheele pending further investigation.

There was no blood reported found in the bedroom, believed scene of the slaying.

Clothing and bedding at the scene, along with fingernail scrapings and the line used to choke off Mrs. Parker's life, are being readied for delivery to the FBI laboratory in Washington, D. C., Scheele said.

The county attorney complained of not having enough officers to track down leads, many of them reported by private citizens, throughout the day and night.

Car Still Strong Lead

Still considered a strong lead is the 1949 or 1950 dark blue or black Ford two-door reported seen near the home the morning of the slaying. Law enforcement officials, including the Nebraska Safety Patrol which was called in to help, continued checking out car registrations.

Known past sex offenders in the area are being systematically checked out, Scheele said. He said this was just one phase of the investigation.

"After this amount of work," Scheele said, "It's getting to the point where it's beginning to narrow down." He said the investigation was just one of "plugging away."

Carroll, who has worked throughout in the investigation along with Sheriff Merle Karnopp, again urged anyone who saw the Ford near the home Wednesday morning to report the fact to police. Close to 100 telephone calls were received by police Thursday in some connection with the murder

Mrs. Parker had been employed at Gooch Milling Co. of Lincoln since last July as a dietician. She and her husband, Darrel, were married after being school sweethearts at Iowa State University, where he graduated in 1954 from the School of Forestry.

The slain woman was from Des Moines, Ia., and her husband was from Henderson, Ia., where his father is a farmer.

Parker has stayed since the slaying at the home of James Ager, Lincoln Park Superintendent.

A round-the-clock police guard at the Parker home was being continued. The home is located near the south entrance to Antelope Park and although it faces west has an address of 3200 Sumner.

—LONG-RANGE AG PLAN OUTLINED—

Farm Bureau Asks Voluntary Production Cut

Want Surplus At Half Price And Soil Bank

CHICAGO (INS)—A voluntary cut in farm production to put agriculture back on a supply and demand basis was urged Thursday by one of the nation's most influential farm groups.

To make up for the resulting financial loss, the organization asked that the government (1) sell back to farmers at half their actual value surplus crops which have accrued in federal warehouses, or (2) pay rent on the acreage taken out of production of cash crops and planted in soil-building grasses or legumes.

A resolution to this effect was overwhelmingly approved by delegates to the American Farm Bureau Federation's 37th annual convention in Chicago, representing more than 1,600,000 farm families.

The immediate result of the "soil bank" plan, as envisioned by the framers of the resolution, would be to put the brakes on surplus production, liquidate the huge government-owned stockpiles of surplus commodities and conserve valuable farm land now being overworked.

Long-Range Hope

The long-range hope is to put agriculture back on a firm economic footing, with consumers' demand dictating production, and to "get the government out of the farm business."

Under the resolution, the plan would not take effect until 1957.

Farm leaders hailed the plan as a big step toward solving the critical cost-price squeeze which has reduced the farmers' net income 28 per cent in the past five years.

Floor Flight

The delegates also reaffirmed, after a floor fight, support of the administration's flexible price support system.

A group of Southern delegates led by H. L. Wingate of Macon, Ga., president of the Georgia Farm Bureau, vigorously opposed the resolution but it carried by a four-to-one margin.

This Farm Bureau plan would operate this way:

1—Farmers would be required to put an unspecified percentage of their acreage in the soil bank to qualify for government price supports. There would be no limit on the amount of land they could put in the bank.

2—Farmers could be paid for the acreage in the soil bank either in surplus government stocks which they could use or sell on the open market, or in cash.

3—Farmers with federal acreage allotments to grow any of the six basic crops—corn, wheat, cotton, peanuts, rice and tobacco—could buy government surpluses, at a nominal cost, to bring their production up to normal if they voluntarily underplant their fields.

4—Agricultural conservation payments would be used to help farmers seed soil building crops and established other conservation practices on land put in the soil bank.

Benson Predicts Price Decline End In '56

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson predicted Thursday that the five-year decline in farm prices—now a controversial political issue—will come to an end next year under influence of a broadened administration farm program.

He said he believes that farm prices as a whole will not dip below the present level which is 81 per cent of the parity price goal of federal farm-aid programs. Prices for the first 11 months of this year averaged 85 per cent of parity.

Benson

Parity is a standard, set out in farm laws, for measuring farm prices in relation to prices farmers must pay for things they buy.

In a year-end statement, Benson said he expected "some improvement" in prices for a number of farm commodities. He did not name them.

Questioned, the secretary said he agreed, however, wth a recent department economic forecast that farm income in 1956 probably will be "a little" below this year. Farm income this year has been running about 10 per cent below last year.

"A further rise in national income is expected by Department of Agriculture and other economists," he said. "In recent years farmers' income has not been following the national trend but I believe this abnormal condition has about run its course."

The secretary went on to say that conditions in agriculture must improve if the national economy is to remain healthy.

He repeated previous promises that the administration will seek legislative adjustment in present farm programs "in order that we may make more vigorous effort to dispose of surpluses and remove market gluts which depress prices."

Russia Casts 77th U.N. Veto, U.S. Claims 'Abuse'

. . . Soviets Bar Japan As Member

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Russia Thursday cast its third veto against Japan in three days to bar Tokyo's application for U.N. membership. The United States angrily denounced this action as an "abuse of the veto power."

Russia now has 77 vetoes to her credit for the past 10 years at U.N.

This development was a gloomy follow-up to Wednesday's historic decisions which saw the Security Council and General Assembly approve 16 new members. Eleven of the happy countries making the grade took seats behind shiny nameplates in the huge Assembly Hall and all were greeted enthusiastically by cheering delegates.

Bitterness arose in the Security Council, however, when Arkady A. Sobolev, Soviet delegate, vetoed a resolution by Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief American representative, favoring Japan's application. Japan had been knocked out Tuesday and Wednesday by Russian vetoes and an angry Lodge assailed Thursday's action. He said it would be widely resented in the world.

Sobolev retorted that Lodge, by pressing more resolutions, was trying to force more negative votes.

A 'Pawn'

In Washington, the State Department charged that Russia has vetoed Japan in order to keep a "bargaining pawn" in negotiations with the Japanese. The State Department appealed to Russia to reverse its stand quickly.

The vote on Lodge's resolution was 10-1. Sobolev voted alone against it but this was his veto. This raised Russia's total to 77 vetoes cast in the 10 years of the U.N., 45 of them barring applicants from membership. Japan, which applied June 16, 1952, now has been vetoed four times in all by Russia.

After knocking down the Lodge resolution, Sobolev with a shrug voted alone for a Soviet resolution to consider the admission of Japan and Communist Outer Mongolia at the 11th U.N. Assembly meeting next year. No one voted against it and 10 abstained because they did not want to link the two applications.

T. F. Tsiang, Nationalist China's delegate who vetoed Outer Mongolia Tuesday, assailed the Soviet resolution. He said it was an "insult to the Japanese people" to couple Japan with Outer Mongolia.

Road Crash Kills Omahan

OMAHA (AP)—Staff Sgt. Jack A. Simmons, Omaha, stationed at Offutt Air Base, was killed Thursday night when the car he was riding in collided with a stock truck on Highway 275 east of the South Omaha bridge in Iowa. The car was driven by Francis B. Boherty, also an Omaha airman. Boherty was not seriously hurt and the truck driver was not injured. The truck driver's name was not immediately available.

Slightly Warmer Weather Forecast

After overnight lows hitting the zero area in the east, Nebraska weather was predicted to warm up slightly by Friday night.

And in the extreme west, snow flurries were said likely Friday evening. Friday's highs were to range from the 20s in the northeast to the 30s in the southwest. Snow flurries were expected in the southeast Saturday.

Thursday night and early Friday was to see a start in the state's warming procedure, with lows of 5 to 15 degrees expected. But in the east, where cold had settled Thursday, lows were to be between zero and 5 above overnight.

This came after a Thursday that saw some low record marks. Lincoln's 1 above zero overnight temperature early Thursday was the lowest mark in the city this winter. It warmed up to only 15 in Lincoln during the day and the Lincoln Airport reported a high of 14, as did Omaha. Norfolk had the state's lowest maximum, 6 degrees.

TIDINGS OF GREAT JOY

The Coming Of The King

CHAPTER FIVE

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

While Jesus was being born in the stable at Bethlehem, there were some shepherds on the nearby hills, watching their flocks through the night.

Today, if one visits those hills and fields, he will still see the flocks grazing, and whiteclad shepherds who might almost be the same shepherds standing by to see that no sheep wander away and that no wolf or fox comes down from the hills to steal a lamb.

This one night several of them guarded their sheep. Suddenly, it seemed to them as though the very skies opened up and they saw a great choir of angels. The choir was singing and it was wonderfully beautiful music. They had never heard such music in all their lives.

They listened and they heard the words the angels were singing: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

They were troubled about this miracle and couldn't understand it. Then an angel explained to them and comforted them: "Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord."

Then the angel told them that they could easily recognize the baby. They would find him wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger.

After the angels left, the shepherds decided that they would go to Bethlehem and see for themselves this great thing the angel had told them about.

As fast as they could, they hurried to the inn at Bethlehem and there, just as the angel had said, they found the stable, the manger and the child. And so these simple men from the countryside became the first people, other than Mary and Joseph, to look upon the face of Jesus.

Farmers' Net Income Off 10%

. . . '56 Outlook Is For Further Decline

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers' realized net income for this year will be about 10½ billion dollars, 10 per cent less than in 1954, the Agriculture Department said Thursday.

The Agriculture Marketing Service, in its December report, said that realized gross farm income this year is about 3 per cent lower than in 1954 but that production expenses are slightly higher.

Further reduction is in prospect for next year, the report said, adding:

Another Decline Ahead

"The 1956 outlook is for some further decline in gross farm income, reflecting further acreage restrictions on some crops and slightly lower average prices for the year as a whole.

"Production expenses will remain high in 1956, although farmers may be able to reduce the total a little because of lower feed costs. Net income will probably show some decline in 1956."

Farm Population Down

Because of reductions in the farm population, the decline since 1951 in net income per person on farms from all sources has been much smaller than the drop in total realized net income of farm operators, the report explained. It added that the farm population has not shown any recent decline this year. Income per person on farms is somewhat lower than a year ago.

Farmers' cash receipts from marketings this year will probably total about 29¼ billion dollars, down a billion dollars or 3 per cent from 1954. The report said the volume of marketings is up 2 per cent but prices of farm products are averaging 5 per cent lower.

'Open' AEC Facts Aim Of Senator

Security Red Tape Handicapping Work

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sen. Anderson (D-NM), chairman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee, Thursday night announced broad plans to get more information on present and potential peacetime uses of nuclear energy "out into the open."

He did so in a speech in which he also hit hard at "clearance" requirements of the Atomic Energy Commission controlling access to confidential or secret information of potential value in peacetime applications.

"It is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than it is for a businessman to receive frank and complete and unfettered answers from the Atomic Energy Commission," he declared in a speech prepared for the Nuclear Science and Engineering Congress.

He said his committee hoped—with the aid of public hearings—to do the following during the early part of the next session of Congress:

1. Appraise the present and future impact of peaceful atomic applications "on the American way of life, economy, industry, and natural resources, including the effect on employment." One aid, he said, would be a report by a special "citizens panel," including prominent experts in various fields, which was appointed by the Joint Committee to make a survey.

2. Consider the impact of the atom on economics and industries economy and industry here at home."

3. Study "the activities" of the AEC "in its roles of developing and regulating the peaceful uses of atomic energy."

ALGERIA'S TOLL CLIMBS BY 80 DURING WEEK

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—Continuing political murder and terrorist attacks in Algeria Thursday brought the week's toll to more than 80 rebels, natives and French settlers killed.

Near Bone, terrorists shot and killed 84-year-old Bertrand Lacabanne, former mayor of the Algerian town of Duvivier. The killing of the old man enraged nearby French settlers. Two Moslems had their throats cut near Guelma and two others were killed near Batna.

In the worst incidents of the last four days, 15 rebels were killed Wednesday when they were trapped in a cave near Djebel r'Dira, 19 French soldiers were killed in a rebel ambush Monday and the following day 17 rebels died in a clash with French troops near the Moroccan border.

Similar incidents, although on a smaller scale recently, continued to plague Morocco, where four persons were killed in the last 24 hours.

NU Ag Economist Says Imports Up Over Export Item

University of Nebraska farm economist Everett Peterson said recent reports show imports of farm products raised in the United States are running far below exports of these products.

Whenever farm prices are declining, he explained, there is concern over imports from other countries.

Products imported include coffee, rubber, cocoa, bananas, and other items which cannot be produced in this country, and for which there are no close substitutes.

Principal U. S. farm products exported are tobacco, wheat, corn, cotton, soybeans, tallow and lard, cottonseed oil, and grain sorghums.

Coffe, cane sugar, rubber and wool account for over half of all agricultural imports, which totaled $919,000,000 in the three-month period, July through September.

Cops Slay Teen-Aged Killer Of 3

. . . In Pennsylvania

VANDERGRIFT, Pa. (AP)—A 17-year-old love-crazed teenager who shot and killed the parents and uncle of the girl who spurned him was fatally shot Thursday in a blazing gun duel with a posse.

John Fallone, a bullet in his brain, died at 5:45 p.m. CST at a Kittanning hospital.

Gladys Smail, 15-year-old girl who spurned Fallone, is in serious condition at the same hospital with a bullet wound in her breast. Fallone shot her Wednesday night in a wild burst of gunfire which ended in death for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Smail, and her uncle, William A. Smail.

Fallone's last defiant act was to shoot policeman Gus Zanos of Apollo, Pa., a member of the posse of nearly 50 police and volunteers who tracked him down in the snowy countryside 30 miles northeast of Pittsburgh.

Flesh Wound

Zanos, however, suffered only a flesh wound of the head.

Members of the posse closed in on Fallone about noon, 30 minutes after Zanos was shot. They found Fallone crumpled in a foxhole-like refuge. His .22 caliber automatic rifle was at his side. So were about 500 rounds of ammunition. He was wearing only blue jeans, a sport shirt and a light tan jacket. He had been in the sub-freezing countryside since fleeing after the slayings about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Although in serious condition, Gladys was able to talk about the events leading up to the shootings. She said she had dated Fallone several months ago, "after which he wouldn't let me talk to other boys."

"My parents finally forbade me to see him. Then he threatened us, he said, "I'll get all of you some day,'" she related.

He came to the house.

Armed with the rifle and a box of dynamite, the boy terrorized the family, shot the girl and killed her parents in the kitchen while five younger children cried in fear. As he walked outside Fallone saw Smail's brother, William, 49, returning to the house with help and shot him down in the yard.

Uruguay Leader Is Improving After Attack In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — President Luis Batlle-Berres of Uruguay rested comfortably in a flower-filled hospital room Thursday after suffering a digestive system upset.

Visitors to his spacious room on the 16th floor of Wesley Memorial Hospital reported the Latin American leader dozing comfortably. On a good will tour of the United States, he was stricken ill Wednesday night while attending a dinner in his honor.

A medical bulletin Thursday said:

"The President has a gastro-intestinal disorder. His general condition is very satisfactory. Further laboratory tests are being made."

Doctors indicated Batlle-Berres may have to remain in the hospital at least another five days.

A big bouquet of bird of paradise flowers—delicate, yellowish-orange plants—arrived from President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

A card from the American president said, "Best wishes for a speedy recovery."

Farm Cars Up

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Census Bureau said that seven out of 10 U.S. farms have an automobile.

The report, based on the 1954 census of agriculture, said that on 4,782,393 farms the total number of automobiles was 4,258,178.

This, the government pointed out, was only slightly higher than the 4,206,447 cars on farms in 1950.

However, the proportion of farms with cars has increased to about 71 per cent in 1954—as compared with 63 per cent in 1950.

Death Ordered

SANTA FE, N.M. (INS) —The New Mexico State Supreme Court issued an execution order for James Larry Upton, 22, of Bakersfield, Calif., convicted in the hitchhike slaying of Donald Dilley, 19, of Salt Lake City.

The court set the execution date as Feb. 24. Upton was convicted in Albuquerque for the September, 1954, slaying of Dilley with whom he had hitched a ride at Amarillo, Tex.

RAGING STORMS AT SEA CLAIM 7 LIVES

. . . Biggest Snow Of Winter Hits Denmark

LONDON (AP) —Storms raging over the Atlantic and the North Sea took seven lives Thursday and four fishermen were reported missing.

A Royal Air Force helicopter crashed into the 117-foot Bell Rock lighthouse off Scotland's east coast in a mist. Both crewmen were killed.

Farther north, in the Moray Firth, a gale blew the 130-ton Belgian trawler Beatrix-Fernande on the rocks. Five of the crew were rescued, another was drowned and two were missing.

The French fishing boat Adre-Suzanne was missing in a storm off Ile d'You. The bodies of two fishermen were recovered from the sea but two others were missing.

The winter's worst snowstorm swept Denmark, stranding hundreds of cars and delaying rail, sea and air traffic. Two fishermen drowned at Skagen, Jutland.

Queen 30 Hours Late

NEW YORK (INS) — Atlantic storms, with winds roaring at 65 miles an hour and waves 50 feet high, buffeted the liner Queen Mary during a crossing that ended Thursday in New York, 30 hours behind schedule.

At one point, Capt. Donald W. Sorrell, the skipper, reported as the Queen tied up in the north river, heavy spray broke over the bridge 97 feet above the waterline. But the only damage was a few bent rails.

The Greek liner New York, bucking the storm, docked 24 hours later.

L.A. Fire Chief Suspended Over Segregation Rule

LOS ANGELES (INS) — The Board of Fire Commissioners Thursday suspended Los Angeles Fire Chief John H. Alderson in the climax of a bitter controversy over integration of Negroes in the Fire Department.

Deputy Chief F. Harry Rothermel, 65, was named acting chief pending outcome of the civil service examinations for the position.

Alderson said that he would fight the board's action.

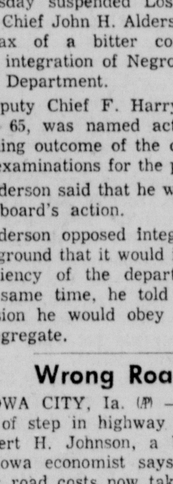

Alderson opposed integration on the grounds that it would impair the efficiency of the department. At the same time, he told the commission he would obey orders to desegregate.

Wrong Road

IOWA CITY, Ia. (AP) — Iowa is out of step in highway financing, Robert H. Johnson, a University of Iowa economist says. Johnson says road costs now take 3.3. per cent of Iowan's personal income, compared with the national average of 1.8 per cent. He points out that though Iowa ranks fifth in the nation in mileage of secondary roads and seventh in total street and highway mileage, the state is 16th in number of vehicles, 21st in the income of its people and 22nd both in size of population and land area.

Crewmen Safe

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The owner, captain and nine crewmen of the 104-foot motor vessel Monster, which sank in the stormy Atlantic, rested in Miami Thursday after a two-hour ordeal in a wildly tossing lifeboat.

Madrigal Singers Provide Old-Fashioned Hospitality

By RUTH ARDIS

The Madrigal Singers of the University of Nebraska provided a delightful evening of music and old-fashioned hospitality Thursday at the Student Union. The concert was in authentic sixteenth century setting with the singers seated at a long table in the middle of the room. Dr. David Foltz as director acted as host and added to the informality of the occasion with his interesting comments on the music.

The fame of the University of Nebraska Madrigal Singers has justly increased with each year. Their fine musical performances have been broadcast coast to coast for the past several years. The responsiveness and exceptionally fine blending of this group has made them in demand as an outstanding organization.

The unfamiliar group of carols typified the traditions of various countries throughout the world. Very effective was the Spanish "Carol of the Birds" in whhich Nancy Norman sang the soprano solo with a background of men's voices imitating a plucked guitar.

Other soloists included John Poutre in the Spanish "Hacia Belan va un Borrico" and Donavan Crandall in the American folk song" "I Wonder as I Wander". Bill Bush played a 75 year old celeste — an instrument which enhances the Christmas spirit. It provided an especially effective accompaniment to the group's encore of "Jingle Bells".

A more personal spirit prevailed when the guests joined the Madrigal Singers on the second verses of the familiar carols. One of the most beautiful settings of the evening was the singing of "Luther's Cradle Hymn" by sopranos and altos against the humming background of male voices.

Then Dr. Foltz taught the audience the parts extemporaneously and had the entire group singing as a family. The response was not only interesting but well done.

The Student Union went the second mile in preparing the setting. It was complete, even to the punch bowl on the table, the logs burning in the fireplace and the serving of the flaming plum pudding to all the guests.

The Madrigal Singers will make two broadcasts by personal invitation of Mr. James Fassett, Supervisor of music, CBS Radio in New York. The one to be heard here on Dec. 22 from 9 to 9:15 p.m. will consist of some of the carols heard on Thursday's concert. For the December 25 broadcast, which will be heard here at 11:05 a.m., they will present Benjamin Britten's "Ceremony of the Carols."

India Might Not Request Foreign Aid

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said Thursday it may not be desirable for India to ask for aid from abroad in the future.

His statement was contained in an article written for the Congress party's fortnightly Economic Review.

"Because of our big development schemes, there is a big gap between our estimated resources and what we intend to spend," he wrote.

To Fill The Gap

"Well, normally one looks to fill the gap maybe by some greater effort and possibly and largely by some external assistance.

"This may come but we should not rely on it.

"And, as various developments are taking place in the external world, it may possibly become not desirable for us to ask for external assistance."

Official sources declined to speculate on the import of Nehru's statement.

1949 Rape Case Figure Gets Life; NAACP Blasted

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (INS) — The Florida State Pardon Board commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence of Walter Lee Irvin, one of four Negroes convicted in the notorious Groveland rape case in 1949.

The board, acting on the direction of Gov. Leroy Collins, was unanimous in its action.

Collins, however, sharply criticized the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which had taken an active interest in the case ever since it broke into headlines six years ago.

Collins said, "this organization (NAACP) in many ways makes the administration of justice at times and under certain circumstances more difficult."

Irvin was one of four Negroes charged with raping a white woman in Groveland, Florida, in 1949. The case set off widespread violence against Negroes in that region.

British Major Kills Leader Of Ambush

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A British army major turned a guerrilla band's ambush of his jeep into a death trap for the guerrilla leader, a fugitive with a $14,000 price on his head.

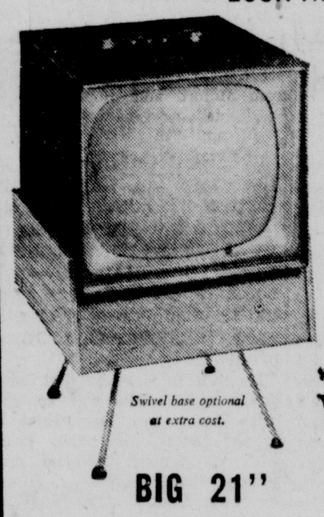

Maj. Brian Coombe, 34 seized a Sten gun and went into action after the band fatally wounded his companion, a British private, in the Troodos Mountain area.

He killed the leader, identified in a government communique as Harilambos Mouskos, and captured two others, one wounded.

Mouskos was a cousin of Archbishop Makarios, Greek Orthodox leader of the fight against Britain for the union of Cyprus with Greece.

An army spokesman said Coombe was driving when his jeep was fired upon from ambush near Pano Panayia. The major's companion, wounded, died later in a hospital.

LAFB Housing Bids To Be Opened Here

'Courtesy Of Omaha Engineers'

Arrangements have been made for the opening in Lincoln of bids to be received Dec. 22 on the construction of a more than $5 million housing project at the Lincoln Air Force Base.

The opening, at the City Hall, is a courtesy being extended by the Omaha District, Corps of Engineers. A spokesman for the Corps said it is a policy of the organization to open bids on large projects in the community affected if it is so desired by officials of the city.

Bids on all previous Lincoln Air Force Base projects have been opened in Omaha.

The opening here will probably be conducted by Col. Thomas J. Hayes, District engineer. Opening time is 10 a.m.

A total of 165 sets of plans and specifications have been requested by interested contractors. The job will be let to one general contractor who will be responsible for construction of streets, utilities, sewers and landscaping as well as the housing units.

Much of the interest in the project comes from contractors who hope to do some of the specialized work through subletting by the general contractor. Requests for plans and specifications have come from 12 other states in addition to all parts of Nebraska.

Both Strauss Bros. and Olson Construction Co. of Lincoln have said they will submit bids on the job. Construction will include 100 housing units for officers' families and 300 for enlisted men's families.

Tom Dewey Talks With GOP Chiefs, Meet Said Social

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York dined Thursday night with seven state Republican leaders. Although it was his first such meeting since he quit politics almost a year ago, he quickly disclaimed any new political ambitions.

Party spokesmen insisted the affair was "strictly social" — that it was the first chance Dewey has had to get together with men who were close to him in public life.

When newsmen pressed political questions on him, Dewey said: "There is no news tonight. I have nothing to say."

'Any Job'

William Mac Kenzie of Belmont, N. Y., chairman of the State Assembly's Ways and Means Committee, said:

"In my book he can have any political job he aspires to."

To which the former governor and twice GOP presidential candidate rejoined:

"I don't want any, now or anytime. I am completely happy."

Dewey is practicing law in New York.

Moon Passport

CHICAGO (AP) — James T. Mangan, who says he's acting secretary of state of the Nation of Celestial Space, issued his first passport to the moon.

The passport, permitting the bearer to make a round trip to the moon, went to Dr. Wagner Schelsinger, director of the Adler Planetariom in Chicago.

The lawmaker said he was "depressed" after seeing the mystery of East Berlin, but reported that the people were friendly and waved to him and "I waved back."

Fires Kill 6 Children, 3 Adults

McGEHEE, Ark. (INS) — Five small children perished Thursday when a fire swept through a three-room frame house.

The children, ranging in age from one to six years, were members of two families.

Cause of the fire was believed to be an overheated wood-burning stove.

Parents of the victims were away from the house when the tragedy struck, working in a nearby cotton field.

Three of the dead children were members of the Elijah Trass family — Willie Jean, 5; Billie Jean, 3; and Elijah Jr., 1. The other two were Freddie Lee Ross, 6, and Louise Mathis, 3, children of Mrs. Annie Brooks.

HOPKINTON, Mass (INS) — Four members of one family perished Thursday when explosions of two space heaters tore their Hopkinton home apart and turned it into a huge bonfire.

The victims were George Morrison, 48, his wife, Mae, 40, their son, Peter 8, and Morrison's mother, Mrs. Florence Morrison, 70.

A general alarm brought aid from Milford and Hopedale but fire fighters were helpless because of the rapid advance of the flames, and shortage of water.

VFW, Auxiliary Prepare Annual Gift Program For State's 3 Vets Hospitals

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Ladies Auxiliary of Nebraska have prepared more than 850 packages to be distributed to the three Veterans Administration hospitals in Nebraska.

The packages were prepared at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Grossman, 4235 Everett, for veterans in the Grand Island, Omaha and Lincoln institutions.

A caravan of four cars will distribute gifts in Omaha Sunday, in Lincoln Tuesday and in Grand Island on Wednesday.

Heading the caravan will be Cleon Pratt of Elgin, department commander; Mrs. Florence Whipple of Nebraska City, department president; Robert Lowe of Lincoln, department adjutant; Mrs. Nathan Grossman, department auxiliary hospital chairman; Nathan Grossman, department hospital co-ordinator, and Bruce Gould of Lincoln, department hospital assistant.

Arrangements have been made at each hospital for a Christmas party, followed by distribution of the gifts. Gifts will include men's toilet sets, cigarettes, stationery, stamps, and a new dollar bill to be given to each patient by the Ladies Auxiliary.

Friday Disclosure

HONOLULU (INS)—Frank Fasi, Democratic party national committeeman in Honolulu, disclosed that Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), will announce his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination Friday.

Fasi made public the following cablegram signed by Kefauver:

"On this one I wanted to advise you that I am announcing my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for President at 11 a.m. Friday.

"During the course of the campaign I shall do my utmost to add to the unity and strength of our party.

"Hope to see you soon."

Wages Hit

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Justice Department asked a Federal court to dissolve a preliminary inenforce minimum wages in the woolen industry.

A department motion asked the court to dissolve a preliminaryi njunction blocking minimum wage rates from going into effect.

The injunction was granted last May by U.S. District Judge Edward A. Tamm, who said there was "substantial doubt" about the legality of the minimum wage of $1.20 per hour for work performed on government contracts.

Short Of Landmarks

Informed Americans would have scored well Thursday in interviews covering the Constitution and Bill of Rights because it was the day set aside for annual national observance of the first ten amendments. Whether they were familiar with them or not they would have been for them.

But it appears that a few days earlier it was a different story. In Denver reporters were sent out on the street on Tuesday with copies of the Bill of Rights in petition form. They sought interviews with 100 people on the street asking them to read the proposals and endorse them if they felt that they could support them.

Fifty-two individuals refused to take the time. They said they were too busy and hastened on their way.

Fifteen took the time, read and reflected and then denounced the amendments and refused to sign. One reader said that such stuff would destroy the historic concepts of American democracy. Another thought they were fishy.

But 33 thought they were fine and signed them. They included those who quickly recognized the true identity of the amendments. There were sixteen such.

A similar newspaper survey at Madison, Wis., a state university town, dredged up only eight who were ready to go along with the principles of the unidentified Bill of Rights.

The results may amuse some, alarm others. On the surface they did not give a very good showing for American familiarity with its cherished principles. However, the conditions of the inquiry, while they may have measured the average man's familiarity with his great public documents, or lack of it, lost accuracy in attenpting to determine true acceptance. Once-over-lightly street reading, distractions, and a tendency to hold petition carriers suspect contributed to the poor score.

But the interviews did emphasize the dangers of too much "take-it-for granted" plus the advisability for many more persons to familiarize themselves with the form and wording of the Bill of Rights and other key American statements. General acceptance, only, is a poor defense against being misled by the artful even though the victim is true in heart.

What Comes First?

Nebraskans have listened to a great deal of talk in recent months in which emphasis has been given to responsibility for providing an adequate program for rehabilitation for the law breaker.

We are, we take it, thinking about the mine run of law violations—not vicious, violent crime—when we talk about this matter of rehabilitation.

Trouble is that crime continues to mount unless our law enforcement agencies, ranging from the FBI at the top on down—are feeding us phony figures. We talk about rehabilitation and then we find that much of the current crime—not all of it but entirely too much—has been committed by those who have been in trouble before and again are free to prey upon society, either because their sentences have been completed, commuted, or the offenders have been paroled.

Now along come two unsolved, shocking murders—two murders in which young women were the victims—one in Omaha and one in Lincoln. In one instance the victim was shot to death—in the other death was caused by strangulation. The revulsion and horror of these two crimes are intensified by reason of the holiday season. Deep shadows have gathered both in Omaha and Lincoln because of two revolting, violent crimes.

Law enforcement agencies in both communities will not have completed their tasks until they have brought the guilty to justice.

If we are to conduct an effective, intensified campaign against crime, however, the Nebraska public and the people of other states are going to have to make up their minds relative to the first objective of law enforcement. What is it? Does rehabilitation come first or is society's protection the first and primary objective in all cases involving savage, violent crime. We do not think there can be any argument over what is the first objective in the struggle against violent crime. But if there is common agreement that our first purpose is the protection of a law abiding people, then perhaps we will be far more intelligent and law enforcement will be much more effective if we quit talking so much about rehabilitation and talk more about making people pay for their misdeeds. There are those who say there is no conflict between the dual objective of rehabilitation and punishment. If there is no conflict then how does it happen that the more emphasis we place upon rehabilitation, the more lawlessness and crime we reap?

In our humble judgment the time has come to get tough — vigorously tough — in penal methods. Why not waste a little less sympathy upon those who commit crimes and devote a little more sympathy to the victims?

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

From a different quarter comes testimony of Nebraska's virtues as the healthiest state in the Union. Population Reference Bureau, a research organization which studies trends in population, insists that a white woman living in Nebraska has the best chance to live to be 85 years old, according to a news story appearing in the New York Times.

★

In its monthly publication, "Population Bulletin," the bureau said that on the average, women live longer than men and that rural people, especially in such midwestern states as Nebraska, have a lower death rate than city people. Granted, that Nebraskans have ample basis for expecting to live longer, fact is that these midwest states, including Nebraska, either continue to stand virtually still or to reflect population losses. Why? There are any number of answers to the question, but apparently the best is that too many midwestern youngsters, born in a rural atmosphere and the most healthful, wholesome environment to be found in the United States, still are drawn to the cities, particularly to the metropolitan areas, because it appears that job opportunities as a rule hold forth for them the promise of greater financial success. It has been going on now for the better part of three decades. The drift from rural areas and the small towns of the Midwest continues unabated, with nothing at this time suggesting that the pattern will reverse itself. Fact is that as a people we have reached the point where most of us consider it wiser to live from day to day, planning to adjust our thought and our lives on short notice. Medical science has made the progress to give adequate assurance of longevity to America's teeming millions.

Lower Death Rate

★

Youth will live longer than its parents, the New York Times dispatch reports—considerably longer than its grandparents. Children, the Times story continues, will fare even better. On the average, the American baby will live 21.5 years longer than his grandparents, who were born in 1900, only 55 years ago. Yet mere years are, in themselves, a pretty poor tapeline by which to measure living at this time. It does no violence to fact to suggest that a week or a month may be the equivalent in broadened horizons and enriched experience of five or more years at the beginning of this present century.

★

Our wonders never cease. Scientific discovery and inventive genius continue to open the doors to the impossible. We speak casually of the speed of events, scarcely realizing ourselves how awesome and how impressive that speed actually is. Earlier this week a ship put forth for the cold water of Antarctica way down under to engage in the most intensive study to pry loose the last secrets of a big unknown continent buried in ice. We have now perfected the facilities to cut through the skies at twice the speed of sound. Tomorrow it will be only an ordinary experience to circle the South Pole, perhaps, gaze down upon its unexplored ice fields, speculate upon the unknown riches said to be buried deeply under the thick ice of that region. We have in this last year been talking about the conquest of the stratosphere to open up a whole new field of adventure never heretofore dreamed about. There seems to be no limit to that which future generations may anticipate. They will be called upon for a knowledge of the world in which they live—for a wisdom in meeting its problems which none of us has possessed.

Wonders Never Cease

★

If the normal life span continues to become longer, computed as it is in terms of years — come the year 2000 and the world will demand of each individual a breadth of intellect, perhaps, and a richness of experience unknown today. And most of all, it will say to that individual: "Never permit the mind to become old, embittered, cynical, or filled with a senes of frustration, but live youthfully in the true sense of the zest of youth."

Law Needs Fixing

Despite the efforts of the legislature to improve state assessment laws and end shotgun methods for dealing with taxable inventories Nebraska will be back doing business as usual in that line in 1956.

State Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington has said that he will not employ the provisions of the new average annual inventory law. Instead he will heed the opinion of the attorney general who questions their constitutionality.

In seeking to bring a greater degree of justice the legislature attempted to relieve those who have been caught annually with their greatest inventory on March 1 and who pay taxes on that basis, albeit their inventories the rest of the year are far below that. The legislature rather chose to take the year's average for everyone.

One can agree that equalization is better served by average-striking and while it may appear disappointing to many to have the principle come under the shadow of constitutional barriers the set-back was less a criticism of principle than a veto of methods. It leaves the door open to the legislature to devise alternatives more easily reconciled with constitutional requirements.

The subject is not closed, only referred back to the lawmakers.

Leave It To The Kids

It is a mixed-up world for mixed-up adults, but it has one redeeming feature. It has children who can straighten things out.

Decorators in Miami, Fla., worked hard in getting airborne Santa Claus, complete with sleigh, up into the starry, Christmas sky. But there was confusion on the number of reindeers. They never did get it settled. There were those who held out for seven. But others who based their science on the enumeration contained in the old poem, "A Visit From Santa Claus" proved there were eight.

It remained for the young fry to settle it. They knew exactly. There are nine. The poem was right enough up to a point but it forgot Rudolph the red nosed one.

Ike Looks Well, But Plays Safe

WASHINGTON — His doctor's "slow down" report to the contrary the GOP congressional leaders who met with President Eisenhower this week agreed that he never looked better or acted fitter.

The GOP chiefs, most of whom had not seen the President face to face since before his heart attack in Denver, came to Washington with their fingers crossed. They were confused by the roseate statements of Republican National Chairman Len Hall on the President's health and the recent not-so-roseate report by Gen. Howard Snyder, his physician, that he would have to slow down. Some figured the delayed medical report was an effort to stall for time in order to box out conservative GOP candidates from the race, and those who saw Ike this week still think so.

The question of whether he would run again wasn't even discussed—but during the meetings on legislative matters the President showed no visible signs of fatigue, though he did follow Gen. Snyder's advice by taking a nap during the lunch interval.

As the congressional chiefs filed into the cabinet room Congressman Leslie Arends of Illinois remarked: "You look pretty good to me, Mr. President."

"Well, I feel good," beamed Eisenhower. "Just fine. But those gadgets my doctor has been putting on me recently — they say 'no,' according to the doctor. They say I've got to take it easy, to slow down, in order to prevent fatigue.

"Maybe the gadgets are right, but sometimes I don't believe them. Actually, I've never felt better in my life."

James Tate, Killen, Tex.—"In the early '50's, nearby Ft. Hood was designated a permanent installation. The civilian population launched into a building program to meet the need. Thousands of houses, $3 million worth of schools, additional businesses have been built. Killen has grown to a city of 27,000. Of this number, possibly 60 per cent are military or are connected with the government. Like a bolt of lightning recently, orders were given to move the third corps headquarters and first armored division to inactivated Camp Polk, La. It is a well known fact that Louisiana has no terrain for armored training, that Camp Polk does not have the facilities to handle the 2,500 families immediately affected. The morale of the men and families affected by this ill-advised order has been seriously lowered."

Answer — Louisiana's Gov. Robert Kennon, a Republicrat, made a deal with the Defense Department to reopen Camp Polk in return for permission to stage maneuvers on 7,000,000 acres of Louisiana countryside. Kennon carried on a personal lobbying campaign with Secretary of Defense Charlie Wilson, first coming to Washington, then inviting Wilson to Louisiana. The governor entertained him royally and took him on a hunting trip. Kennon also persuaded Wilson to give up the idea of operating a Texas ranch and buy a 4,000-acre Louisiana plantation instead.

Party Chiefs Set Session Compass

WASHINGTON — Two days of White House conferences in which President Eisenhower and his aides briefed Republican leaders of Congress on domestic policy and leaders of both parties on foreign affairs yielded lots of conversation and few firm conclusions.

Neither the administration nor the Democratic majorities in Congress seem to know exactly what to do about cutting taxes. Furthermore, the Democrats were at cross purposes on the issue.

Their head men, Speaker Rayburn and Senate Leader Johnson, both spent the summer in their native Texas but apparently their communication system broke down. Senator George of Georgia, Johnson's tax and foreign policy brain trust, emerged from the White House reiterating that tax relief in the low and middle income brackets should be voted to the tune of about $3 billion. The speaker plumped for relief for "the little fellow" provided overall revenues gave the Treasury a surplus to make up for it.

Rayburn is in a strong position. Tax bills originate in the House Ways and Means Committee whose chairman, Jere Cooper, and ranking Democrat, Wilbur Mills, are particularly close to him. Many people at the capital believe Mills will one day be speaker with Rayburn's blessing.

☆ ☆ ☆

It is more than possible too that Mister Sam did not care deeply for Senator Johnson's personal state of the union message in which Johnson laid down a 13-point legislative program for the new session. There was no prior consultation with the speaker, according to informed sources.

In the foreign affairs realm, Democrats were polite to the President but brusque with Secretary of State Dulles. They did not argue but they did not give the President a blank check either, as they more or less have done during the past three years.

Realistically, he couldn't have cashed it if they had. During non-presidential years, opposition party leaders in Congress can pretty well commit their party to co-operation. In presidential years the national candidates take the bit in their teeth and gallop.

Adlai Stevenson, Gov. Harriman, Sen. Kefauver and others are going to talk about foreign affairs and there is little the elder statesman, Sen. George, so much deferred to from 1953 to 1955, can do about it. The party generally will take its cue from the men who may be president.

☆ ☆ ☆

Republican leaders got a comprehensive preview of domestic issues which matter deeply to members of the House. They are of course unhappy about agriculture and they realized afresh that they are stuck with Secretary Benson, for better or for worse.

The farm issue is going to touch off the greatest elbowing match in congressional history. Democrats will try to get there "fustest with the mostest" and the administration likewise has an ever-enlarging program.

The Republican National Committee has hired a special public relations man, Ted Braun of California, to help them persuade the farmer that Benson is their best friend.

BOB CONSIDINE

Irish Pondering UN Membership

NEW YORK — Ireland in the United Nations? This is going to set a lot better with the pundits along Third Avenue's better bistros. Sure, and it will elevate the oratory at the nearby headquarters of the world organization, where the great winds blow in five languages.

The only thing that now remains to be seen is whether the Irish accept the invitation. They're a proud people and they read their newspapers and listen to their radio. They won't be forgetting man and boy what those haythun Rooshians have been saying about them through the years — whenever their name came up for membership.

"We will never permit Ireland to be a member of the United Nations,' that blaggard Gromyko said years ago. "Ireland maintained diplomatic relations with Germany during the great war. It did not lift a hand to help the great allies."

It was the representative from El Salvador, or some such, who would not let that slander pass unnoticed. He rose with all the dignity of Daniel O'Connell, himself, and said, "you forget that Russia did more than maintain diplomatic relations with Hitler; that it was Hitler's partner in the conquest of our sister member Poland; that it maintained diplomatic relations with Japan until the last week of the war; that it never lifted a finger to help the Americans in their war against that country."

Gromyko fell into a 5-language funk. He may have to apologize before representatives of the brave lads who populated armies from the Baltic to Dakar march in four abreast, a brief case in one hand and a shillelagh in the other.

Can the chained of the world ever want again for a spokesman when the Irish take the floor in U.N.? Indeed there's every reason to believe that the first move made by the Irish in U.N. will be a demand for the return, from perfidious Albion, of the six counties of Ulster that constitute Northern Ireland. The demand will not be made, you can be sure, by an Irish tenor. This one will rattle every window in the great secretariat building on our East river—the same that Lord Beaverbrook viewed recently, ablaze in the middle of the night, and swore, "My God! what a waste of electricity."

The world almanac has perhaps the ables' brief account of "Poblacht Na H'eireann:

"Ireland, an island in the Atlantic ocean near the European mainland, is a sovereign, independent republic separated from Great Britain on the East by the Irish sea and the north channel and on the southeast by St. George's channel."

You can say that again, Buster.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Boxer Wins Point By A Nose

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

There is nothing unusual about a dog named Rivets until you get up quite close to him.

Upon close inspection, the canine's nose looks longer than a boxer's pug nose. And it is, for Rivet's secret is his mixed parentage.

Although the dog resembles a boxer, he is really part German short-haired pointer. But the pointer doesn't show — except in the nose.

This odd mixture has resulted in a rather large, fast, tan dog who loves children and is powerfully built. His owners are Mr. and Mrs. Mike Risolvato of 256 West Rio and their children, Stephen, 8, Sandra, 7, and Michael, 5.

☆ ☆ ☆

The large dog requires large meals. Rivets eats two cans of dog food at a sitting and nibbles on bones and anything else thrown his way for between-meal snacks.

The Risolvatos are a bit worried about their carport. Rivets is chained to the carport post and when he spies a stray dog or rabbits crossing the yard, the yanking of the chain can be heard inside the house.

Rivets divested himself of one steel collar when he lived on a farm. The canine went wild over some chickens and strained so hard on the chain collar that he broke it. One poor chicken lost a tail as a result of the broken links.

☆ ☆ ☆

Mrs. Risolvato has been appointed to accompany Rivets on his daily exercises. She alleges the first time around the block, they both run and the second time around Rivets settles down to a fast trot.

Rivets is the outdoor type. Only on exceptionally cold winter days is he allowed inside the home. And then he moves to the front door to nap where the cold draft of air refreshes him.

(Star Staff Photo)

RIVETS
. . . strictly the outdoor type . . .

The dog's weakness is car rides and the Risolvatos had to take advantage of that when they first got Rivets. The dog was a year old and would not always come to his new masters. So they would call out, "Let's go for a ride, Rivets." Up the dog would come, falling for the sucker play.

But Mrs. Risolvato says that Rivets soon became wise and refused to come even on chance of a ride.

The dog will climb up onto the back seat and sit near a window, letting the air blow on his big ears.

Flying Fur

Upland, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: For the umpteenth time, inconsistency breaks out anew. It has cost us more in every possible way than all the rest of the dictionary dating from the end of World War I The inconsistent demands are those of a wishful thinking public unwilling to face the music and do today what should nave been done a decade ago.

Now comes a Democrat demanding Mr. Dulles' resignation. It would seem that not even a Democrat would have the nerve to place the blame where it belongs. From the whole Dulles record, how could any average citizen fail to know that he was called home and "spanked" and forced to speak only when spoken to and in complete reverse from his own views? And the poor dejected elephant is weeping because a magic-wand artist has the public hypnotized and is selling them gold bricks. Dulles would not have surrendered Korea or given away Indochina or perpetrated the Geneva hoaxes that have led us step by step to where we are now in Germany and the Far East.

And now, Mr. and Mrs. Duty Shirker, now that the honeymoon is over and Russia has gained on every deal, where do we go from here? I predict that the fur will soon start flying.

No Housing Problem

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am very happy that sponsors, authors, and co-authors of that "de-housing proposal" are taking a breather during the pre-Christmas days. Property owners are entitled to a brief respite from their continuous unconstitutional machinations.

Fortunately there is no longer any housing problem in Lincoln. A glance at the for-rent and for-sale columns will convince even the most skeptical. Of course they cost too much money, but try building one yourself and your opinion will be reversed in short order. But there should be plenty of money, as so-called experts say everybody is riding a financial crest.

Student Housing

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Once again the university has announced a grand and glorious plan. Already pressed by the housing problem, they have decided to take one of the present student houses and give it to the faculty members for lounging facilities. There have been boners pulled before, but this, to me, is about the ultimate.

Having been on the university campus a great deal, I have had the opportunity to see how many of the students are being forced to live in the dormitory recreation rooms due to the over-crowded conditions. Even these recreation rooms cannot accommodate the girls who will be left "homeless" by this action.

Isn't it about time that individuals and their needs should be considered rather than the continued social activities of the faculty?

Fluoridation

Bladen, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I read in The Lincoln Star that fluoride in water has been ruled safe and effective. I believe it will be effective, all right, but in the wrong way for the sake of health. The article stated that it will reduce tooth decay in children, but there is very little tooth trouble for children six to nine years of age.

Do we want such elements as are to be found in fluoride in our stomachs? I say "no." It has never before been necessary to have fluoride in drinking water and it is not necessary now. We are dupes, sitting back and letting others tell us such things as this. It is time we wake up to such people.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: As another year of God's grace moves into the last half of the last month, we are reminded of obligations to others that we should not overlook. One of these is a word of thanks from us for kindness and consideration given to St. John Lutheran Church here in Beatrice by The Star for items we have forwarded from time to time. On behalf of our church and congregation, may I express heartfelt thanks for the space allotted for church news and dissemination of vital information.

State Of Lethargy

Broken Bow, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: That was a magnificent article on "Wide Open Spaces and Narrow Closed Minds." This thing of going to sleep until somebody wakes them from their lethargy has been the trouble with the Democrats these many years—yes, since R. L. Cochran days.

During these years, the GOP'ers have been working night and day to get and maintain their hold. It has been the same old story for the past 60 years. The Demos have to get slapped down and almost out before they will rise up in wrath and fight back.

The Demos in this state as elsewhere must come out of their slump and act their part (politically) for the good of the people. We are the liberal party and don't deny it. We do not accept the vicious slander they have tagged us with —"New Dealers, Socialists, Communists and fellow travelers."

After all, what is liberalism if not direct opposition to that which has been crammed down our throats until it hurts? According to the GOP version, this writer may be a crackpot, egg-head and even a Socialist, but I am still a believer in our Constitution as set forth by our forefathers—a government of, by and for the people.

The conservative element, be they GOP or Demos, have drifted far away from true democracy, which has brought about radical believers bordering on Communistic ideologies of opposition. Name-calling only adds to a more determined vicious retaliation.

It is a misnomer in honest endeavor, political and otherwise. That brings up the question: Why do the ultra-conservatives resort to abuse, if not to cover up their downright abuses of our economic system? From a farmer of 65 years, it is the same old battle. Who has the money to buy our production? What will they pay us? Right then and there, that produces economic antagonism. The price question is entirely out of the farmer's hands, both coming and going. What more severe lesson does the Demo farmer need? And that goes for the GOP farmers, too.

Admiral Promises No Fight Over Seaplane

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of Naval operations and veteran of a famous Air Force-Navy fight, promised Thursday there would be no quarrel if the air force wants to fly big jet seaplane bombers like those the Navy is building.

Half a decade ago Burke was a captain and member of a Navy task force that tried to knock down the Air Force's B36 bomber project. The controversy was over the relative merits of long range bombers and aircraft carriers.

Thursday, answering questions at a National Press Club luncheon, he had a good word for the other service's new planes.

He also outlined the Navy's problems and objectives in converting to nuclear age weapons.

Soviet naval strength, said Burke, has "increased considerably in the last few months," and since World War II the Russians have built in cruisers, destroyers and submarines "than all the rest of the world combined."

Burke was asked about a published report that Russia has started into aircraft carrier construction. He replied, "I doubt if Russia is building a carrier," that Russia's strategic concept is aimed at depriving the free world of the use of the seas around her, not at controlling distant seas.

In his formal address, Burke referred to the Navy's new Seamaster, a 600-mile-per-hour jet seaplane noting that last week the first experimental model had exploded during a flight over Chesapeake Bay. He said, "We will find what caused that accident and we will fix it" and added that "we will build more."

Later, in answering a question based on official expressions of Air Force interest in the big sea-based Martin bomber, Burke said:

"If the Air Force asks for any of these seaplanes or for us to help, we'll be very glad to help all we can; we're all in this together; we won't have a fight over that."

MR. CLAUS PICKS UP HIS MAIL HELD IN LINCOLN

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

"Dear Santa. I want you to please bring me something for Christmas. I don't want myself too order my toy."

This letter from a six-year-old girl was one of the nearly 100 waiting for that old whiskered gentleman when he dropped into the Lincoln Post Office for his mail.

"This letter is a welcome relief," Santa said to Assistant Postmaster Ralph W. Whyman, "from the letters with long lists of toys."

As the postal department has no scheduled deliveries to the North Pole, Whyman holds Santa's letters for him.

Here's another nice letter, Santa said:

"Dear Santa. I am a good girl called Peggy. Just bring me anything."

Peggy's sister wrote that she was a "good birl" but, unlike Peggy, included a toy list.

Perhaps the letter over which Santa chortled the most was from a little boy called Mark. Obviously helped by his mother, Mark listed what each member of the family wanted.

And Santa read: "Daddy wants two good boys and a portable TV set."

Several children sent Christmas cards to Santa and some were home-made. One crayon drawing by a little girl portrayed Santa coming down the chimney with her expressed sentiment: "I Love You."

Other children noted in their letters that they would be at grandmother's house on Christmas.

"Well," said Santa gathering up his mail, "I'd better be on my way. If I don't get these letters to my helpers at the North Pole, some little girl or boy may be disappointed Christmas morning."

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union said it has freed 43 Japanese war prisoners and civilians. 2 Frozen Bodies Recovered After Arkansas Cave-In FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — The frozen bodies of two men were lifted from the earth Thursday, nearly 48 hours after they were buried alive under tons of dirt and debris in a 28-foot excavation here.

Dead are Donald Daggs, an 18-year-old construction worker from nearby Hartford, Ark., who was buried in the first of three cave-ins Tuesday, and Lee Otis Sivley, a Fort Smith fireman who was trapped by the second collapse while trying to rescue Daggs.

Coroner William H. Pope said both men apparently died almost instantly of suffocation and internal injuries.

Missed Death

Four other men—two construction workers and two firemen—narrowly missed death when they were caught by the falling dirt and lumber. They were hospitalized briefly for treatment of minor injuries.

Daggs and two other construction workers were buried when the hole first caved in Tuesday afternoon. Rescuers quickly freed the other two.

Sivley and two other firemen were working to free Daggs when the second collapse caught them. Two firemen were pulled out, but Sivley disappeared beneath the rubble with Daggs.

Self Service

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Judge William J. Thompson of Intermediate Court figured the 31-year-old divorcee had been a bit too resourceful and placed her on three years' probation. She pleaded guilty to forging the circuit clerk's name to an order boosting her alimony payments from $40 to $100 a month.

STANTON DELAPLANE

POSTCARD

Once I lived in a community where practically everybody stood on their heads. It was a small town in California. You can find all kinds of things in California. But mainly new ideas on health.

California was started by thousands of people who were convinced you could live almost forever in the climate. Once they got on the climate jag they began improving it with health ideas.

The small town where I lived was full of such things. One day a man came into town who said in India everybody stood on their heads. This brought more blood to the brain and did a world of good. Soon everybody in town stood on their heads, 15 minutes in the morning and 15 minutes in the evening.

☆ ☆ ☆

Now I read in the journals that R Joshua William Davies of the College of Physicians, New York, says you should go around on your hands and knees.

He says this is good for head colds and sinus trouble.

The idea of this is pretty much like we used to do after the headstand man came to our town. It moves your blood upward. As I get the idea, you stand around and all the blood drains down into your feet. This does your feet no good. It just makes it hard to get your shoes on after you sit up on a plane all night.

What you need is to get the blood up in your head. Then it would be hard to get your hat on. But you could carry your hat. Or make believe you were tipping it to the stewardess.

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, if this idea (which is really old) is getting attention from the New York scientists, I think I should resurrect some other things that occurred in our town.

Our town was on the ocean. And it was the opinion of many people that golden men from a lost continent came out of the sea and walked the dunes at night. They were not only golden in color, they wore only a brief garment. So you could see they were gold all over.

They walked the dunes and were looking for worthy ladies to take to their lost continent where everybody lived in golden splendor. I tell you the truth. This was the opinion of many people in our town.

At night the dunes were busier than Times Square. Most of the ladies in our town considered themselves worthy. And they paraded around the dunes like crazy. I guess it was pretty healthy, too.

☆ ☆ ☆

We had a man in our town who preached that milk was poison. He lived entirely on a diet of nuts. He was poor company in a parlor, because he was always cracking nuts to prove his point. It made it too noisy for conversation.

We had another man who believed that the grocery stores cheated you.

He would go into a grocery and buy a loaf of bread. He would then squeeze it. You can squeeze a loaf into a ball the size of a baseball. He would fling the balled bread on the floor, screaming:

"That is how they cheat you!"

He would stand there munching the outside leaves until the store people could get on the other side of the counter and throw him out. As I remember, he looked quite healthy.

So if they are going to bring up things like going on all fours, there is practically no end to all the things I can dredge up in the health line. From the old days in our town. And I'm glad you asked me

Counterfeiting Gear Seized In Raid On Arizona State-Operated Print Shop

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—In a raid on a state-operated printing shop Thursday Secret Service agents and police arrested two men and seized equipment they said could have turned out $200,000 in counterfeit bills.

"Their grand plan was to make one million dollars' worth," said Police Capt. Orme Morehead.

But the first fake bill never even rolled off the press.

David E. Stonehocker, 29, a printer for the State Highway Department, was arrested in his shop. He had told superiors he was working overtime with his photo offset press to catch up on back work.

Two hours later William Eugene Shearer, 29, was arrested as he arrived for work as a telephone company salesman. Officers said he refused to talk.

As officers broke into the print shop, Stonehocker had negatives for $10 and $20 bills spread out before him. One hundred pounds of bond paper was hidden in a supply room with Stonehocker's name scratched on the carton.

Good Quality

George W. Walker, chief Secret Service agent in Arizona, said the negatives were of exceptionally good quality.

He was preparing to make another set from the photographic negatives just as officers broke in, Morehead said.

Officers declined to say how they caught onto the scheme.

Taken before a U. S. commissioner, Shearer and Stonehocker were charged with possession of material for making counterfeit money and jailed.

Grounded Demon Jets Hit New Snag; Wings Too Long

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The case of the grounded Demon jet fighter has hit another snag.

McDonnell Aircraft Corp. reported Thursday a way still hasn't been found after one month of study, to get the jets to river barges for transportation to Navy training centers.

Wings of the planes fold upward, too high for some highway underpasses. If the wings were locked in flight position, they would be too wide for any highway.

The 21 jet's engines were found to have insufficient power after tests. A congressional inquiry held no one responsible.

"The experts in charge of the movement are still working it out," a McDonnell spokesman said. "They expect to come up with a solution next week."

Spirit Criticized

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda said Western reaction to the India-Burma-Afghanistan tour of Premier N. A. Bulganin and Communist party boss N. S. Khrushchev show the Western Powers did not want to develop international relations "in the spirit of Geneva."

The Communist party newspaper said the reaction proved Western policy still was based on colonialism and systems of military alignments stretching from Southeast Asia to the Middle East. The Soviet Union, it said, showed by the trip that it was ready to "co-operate on a basis of mutual advantage with all nations in poitical, economic, cultural, technical and other spheres."

War Hero Burke, Now Almost Blind, Receives Medal

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Capt. Robert E. Burke, 36-year-old hero of both the battlefield and the home front, received a bronze star Thursday for courageous resistance to Communist torture.

Burke, a former Air Force bombardier whose eyesight is failing, served in two wars and spent 34 months in a Korean prison camp. After returning home, he saved the life of a Miami girl whose clothing caught fire. Unable to see her, he was guided to the rescue by her cries.

Thursday, Col. Hadley B. Eliker awarded him the Bronze Star for extreme valor during months when the Communists tortured him in a vain search for information.

The ceremony, witnessed by his wife and two of their three children, climaxed a 15-year career in the Air Force. Burke was discharged in April, 1954, because he is almost blind—the result of malnutrition suffered in prison.

Now a student at the University of Miami, he is studying aeronautical administration and hopes to get a job with an airline.

Burke, a native of McMechen, W.Va., was shot down and wounded early in the Korean war. He said he and other wounded American airmen received no medical treatment when they were captured.

Burke said "every man has a breaking point, but I think too many Americans broke down the first time somebody twisted their arms a little."

Bold Solon Enters East On A Test

BERLIN (INS)—A bold American congressman spent three hours behind the Iron Curtain Thursday, sightseeing in a radio-telephone equipped car in open defiance of the Communist's East Berlin "regulations."

Rep. Ed Edmondson (D-Okla), told International News Service he had absolutely no trouble and that "Communist police saluted us smartly when we crossed into East Berlin."

The representative's action was an informal reply to the Soviet attempt to turn over the government of the Red sector to the East Germans.

No Attention

Edmondson said Communist police paid no attention to his car even when he visited the Soviet War Memorial Park, where Reps. Edward P. Boland (D-Mass), and Harold C. Ostertag (R-N.Y.) ran into trouble with the Reds last Nov. 27. Boland and Ostertag were detained four hours by Communist police.

Edmondson, a former agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, toured East Berlin in an American Army sedan plainly marked with a big white "USA." He said he was purposely testing Wednesday's statement by Soviet Ambassador Georgi Pushkin that the inclusion of unauthorized radio-telephones in autos was a violation of East German law.

Christ Lutheran Now Set To Become Full Self-Sustaining Congregation

Christ Lutheran Church in Lincoln, which has operated as a mission since it was organized in 1949, will become a self-supporting congregation Jan. 1, it was announced.

The Rev. John Bredehoft said at the annual business meeting that the church has been a mission since it was organized under the Southern Nebraska District of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod. The church is located at 44th and Sumner.

The congregation adopted a budget of $16,270 for 1956, a $3,600 increase over last year's budget. The increase is the amount of the aid formerly received from the district.

Harold Augustin and Carl Deitemeyer were named chairman and vice chairman of the congregation. Other officers are: LaMonte Roesler, secretary; Elmer Neemeyer, treasurer; Milton Meyer, elder; Orville Meyer and Carl Blum, trustees; Roger Koenig, board of education member; and Jim Seward, financial secretary.

Ellis Olim, Linked With Commies, Asks To Testify Under Prosecution Immunity

CHICAGO (AP) — A man identified as a member of the Communist party in the early 1940s agreed Thursday to testify before the House Un-American Activities Committee if he is granted immunity from prosecution.

The witness, Ellis G. Olim, 44, of Chicago, formerly worked as a stenographer for the Interstate Commerce Commission and the U.S. Public Housing Authority. He has been chief of the General Service Division of the Chicago Land Clearance Commission since 1952.

Committee members said this is the first time that a witness has consented to testify after an offer of immunity.

The hearing was adjourned until March 5, after Olim announced his decision. The committee said steps would be taken in a federal court to obtain his immunity.

Olim was identified Tuesday by Prof. Herbert Fuchs, a self-described former Communist, as one of some 34 government workers Fuch said he knew as Communists before and during World War II. Fuchs formerly was on the law faculty of the American University in Washington.

Olim declined to answer questions when he was summoned before the committee Thursday. He declined under the Fifth Amendment.

A witness who refused to answer the committee's questions Wednesdays was suspended by the Illinois Institute of Technology. The witness Prof. Gerald J. Matchett, 43, declined to testify on constitutional grounds.

Dr. John T. Rettaliata, institute president, told newsmen he had written Matchett that he is suspended "pending a review by the appropriate institute bodies because of your refusal to answer questions" put by the committee.

Rettaliata said the institute does not condone refusal of professors to answer questions by claiming protection of the Fifth Amendment.

FTC To Call Meeting To Set Up Advertising Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission decided Thursday to call a trade conference to set up rules to protect the public from "deceptive and harmful" advertising of health and accident insurance.

The FTC has been studying that field for nearly two years and has brought complaints against 41 companies alleging false and misleading advertising

The proposed conference would bring FTC officials together with representatives of all state insurance departments, people from the insurance industry and other interested parties

No Date Set

No date was set for the hearing but the commission agreed that a public statement officially announcing the conference be made "as soon as possible." Thursday's action merely authorized the holding of a conference.

The motion to authorize a conference was made by Commissioner Lowell B. Mason, who then was named to supervise the proceedings.

Invitations were ordered sent to members of a special committee named by the National Assn. of Insurance Commissioners to receive government proposals dealing with the health and accident insurance program.

A Division

In a statement announcing the decision, the commission noted that federal law "contemplated a division between the Federal Trade Commission and the several states of the regulatory responsibilities concerning the advertising practices found in the business of insurance."

Of the 41 companies against which complaints nave been filed, four have accepted consent orders to discontinue the challenged advertising.

The others have denied that the FTC has jurisdiction over their advertising, arguing that the states supply adequate regulation of their activities, Additionally, they have denied any deception in their advertising practices.

Connelly Is Freed On $5,000 Bond In Tax-Fix Case

NEW YORK (AP) — Saying he wants "to meet the issues squarely," Matthew J. Connelly, who was President Truman's appointments secretary, waived a preliminary hearing Thursday on a federal tax-fix indictment.

Connelly was freed in $5,000 bail to answer the charges next Monday in St. Louis, where the indictment was returned. Connelly now is in the public relations business in New York.

His lawyer, former New York City Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams, conceded Connelly is the man named in the St. Louis indictment.

"Because of the character of the prosecution Mr. Connelly felt it is desirable to meet the issues squarely in St. Louis, with an opportunity to expose in all its implications what becomes more and more clearly to be a political prosecution, the likes of which have not been seen in this country in generations," Adams said.

Retorted U.S. Atty. Paul Williams:

" ... This is definitely not a political maneuver."

NU Is Given Teacher Grant By DuPont Co.

The University of Nebraska will receive grants for a teaching assistantship and fundamental research in science as part of the $900,000 program of aid to education, the Du Pont Company of Wilmington, Del., announced Friday.

Crawford H. Greenewalt, president of the Du Pont Company, said that the paramount promlem is to maintain the quality of teaching and at the same time develop enough teachers.

The University of Nebraska will receive $1,500 for a staff member in chemistry to engage in research work during the summer of 1956. The individual selected by the University is to be paid an amount equal to two months of his winter salary and the balance will support his research program.

The University also has a postgraduate teaching assistantship grant. This type of grant was set up to encourage outstanding assistants to continue teaching after the usual two years, thus enabling the universities and undergraduates to benefit from their added experience.

The grant provides $2,400 for the year for unmarried assistants and $3,000 for married men, plus an award of $500 to the University and payment of tuition and fees.

Norman E. Miller of Lincoln is present holder of the grant.

Reds Accuse U.S. Of Violating Plan On Repatriation

GENEVA (INS)—Red China accused the United States Thursday night of violating a Sept. 10 agreement on repatriation of American and Chinese civilians.

The statement released simultaneously in Geneva and Peiping by the Chinese Foreign Ministry said the Chinese Communist government had supplied a full and detailed list concerning U.S. civilians held in China.

The Peiping government charged "the American side has failed up to now to furnish a list of names and information concerning all Chinese in the United States."

Denied By U.S.

WASHINGTON (INS)—The U.S. denied a Chinese Communist charge that it has barred Chinese civilians from returning to their homeland.

State Department spokesman Joseph Reap said, however, that the Communists had supplied the name of only one Chinese man who, they contended, was being kept in the U.S. against his will.

Reap added: "We checked and found that the man had left the country long before."

York Refuses School Bonds

YORK, Neb. (AP) — York voters Thursday turned down a proposed $355,000 school bond issue. It was the third time this year the voters have rejected a bond issue. The other two proposals were for $437,000.

The scaled down proposal received 938 favorable votes Thursday to 864 opposed. But this was 53 votes short of the needed 55 per cent majority.

The bond issue would have covered a comprehensive school improvement, including new classrooms at one grade school and the junior-senior high school building.

Proposed 'Soil Bank' Worries Growers

Grazing Land Pattern Said Endangered

ALLIANCE, Neb. (AP)—The Nebraska Stock Growers Assn. Thursday expressed fear the proposed "soil bank" plan would upset the national balance between grazing and croplands.

In a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Benson, the association recommended that, if the plan is started, diverted acreage should not be placed into production of forage crops or given over to cattle grazing.

The Stock Growers executive Council and advisory board expressed this same sentiment at a quarterly meeting at Ogallala.

Robert M. Howard, association secretary - treasurer, noted in his letter to Benson that the soil bank apparently would divert acreage from production of crops that are price supported.

"Most of our membership," the letter continued, "consists of beef cattle producers, and these folks are gravely concerned as to the intended use for the diverted acreage, which we understand could run as high as 30 million acres across the country.

"Cultivated land, by nature, is more highly productive than range land, and it has been ventured that this vast diverted acreage could run at least 10 million cows," the letter said.

"The natural grazing pattern of our industry would be upset with this kind of competition," Howard wrote. "With a present cattle population that is more than adequate, to stock the diverted acres with cattle would add further tension to an already dangerous market situation."

S-D Day Period This Year Tops Mark For 1954

A formal report Thursday showed Nebraska had a death-free S-D (Safe Driving) Day this year and improved also on last year's record for the 10 days preceding and 10 days following S-D Day.

Robert Pease, chief of the state accident records bureau, forwarded the report to the National Safety Council.

Last year Nebraska counted one traffic death on S-D Day.

Pease listed 18 fatalities in the period from Nov. 21 to Dec. 11 this year, compared with 24 in the comparable period last year.

Talmage Man Plans To File For Congress

Lincoln tSar Special

TALMAGE, Neb. — A. A. Misgadis, Talmage cement contractor, plans to file Saturday for the post of Second district Congressman in the 1956 elections.

The 68-year-old Talmage man, lobbyist for the Southeast Nebraska Taxpayers Association since 1927, will run on an independent ticket. He was a candidate for the short-term Senate post in 1952.

In outlining his farm program platform, Misegadis emphasized he favors wiping out most of the agriculture regulations and placing farming on the same basis as cattle raising, which is minus government control.

The Talmage man also supports the theory that "as long as the U. S. has surpluses a higher tariff should be placed on imports which conflict with products raised in this nation."

Rep. Jackson B. Chase of Omaha has announced he will not seek re-election after having held the Second district office for a single term.

'Dabbling' Unknown To Hagerty

In New Hampshire Primary Election

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said Thursday he knows nothing of a report that the White House is dabbling a finger in the March 13 primary in New Hampshire.

New Hampshire presidential primary law provides that a delegate candidate may file two ways: 1. Unpledged to any presidential prospect, or 2. Pledged to a specific candidate. The pledge, however, may not appear on the ballot without the written consent of the presidential candidate filed with the New Hampshire secretary of state.

The law further provides that the name of a presidential candidate may be placed on the primary ballot upon petition of 50 qualified voters of each of the two congressional districts in New Hampshire. The secretary of state then is required to notify the presidential candidate and if he does not withdraw his name within 10 days it remains on the ballot.

The result was to keep in the air the intriguing question of what President Eisenhower's intentions are toward a second term and when he will offer the answer.

On that, Hagerty had nothing at all to say.

Ike Isolated

The President himself was isolated from the political reverberations around the Gettysburg White House pressroom. For him, it was another day of combining a little official business with large amounts of relaxation and rest at his country estate.

When Hagerty walked into the press room Thursday morning, he was shown a news dispatch carrying implications that Eisenhower's top lieutenant, Sherman Adams, might have assured New Hampshire Republicans that the President will not reject a second term in advance of the state's primary.

If that were so, the New Hampshire GOP could go ahead and choose a pro-Eisenhower delegation to the Republican National Convention in August if it wishes. New Hampshire's primary on March 13 is the first in the nation. In 1952 it gave Eisenhower his first big boost toward the nomination.

Ex-Governor

Adams was governor of New Hampshire before taking over as Eisenhower's right hand man. The present governor, Lane Dwinell, already has announced he wants to be a convention delegate committed to Eisenhower.

Asked whether he could conceive of Adams' giving New Hampshire Republicans "word to go ahead," Hagerty said he couldn't conceive of anything but hadn't had a chance to discuss the matter with Adams.

A few minutes later he got Adams on the telephone and reported back:

'Nothing Of This Sort'

"I do not know of the origin of the report. To my knowledge, nothing of this sort has originated from anyone in the White House."

No, he said, he had not consulted Eisenhower on this answer.

"Is there anything you can say," a reporter inquired, "about the intentions of the President in the primaries?"

"I can't comment on anything I don't know anything about," Hagerty replied.

Bundy Elected Head Of Real Estate Group

Gordon Paulson, technical training director of Lowry Field, Denver, on being selected McCook's "Outstanding Citizen of 1955." The presentation was made at a special award dinner held at the VFW Club. Also shown are District Judge Victor Westermark of McCook, extreme left, speaker at the event, and Lyle Weidman, chairman, at the mike. Bryan was picked for the award from 13 candidates. He received a special VFW medal for his outstanding services to the community. Bryan was responsible for the establishment of the VFW Speedbowl this year in addition to other civic accomplishments. (Photo Special to The Star)

Newsmen Get Murder House Look

Newsmen and photographers were allowed to enter the Darrell Parker home Thursday afternoon, the first time since the slaying Wednesday of Parker's 22-year-old wife, Nancy Ellen.

They observed the house to be little disturbed. The dishes had been washed and stacked in the kitchen sink. Mrs. Parker had planned to wash them before leaving for shopping Wednesday morning.

Several stacks of Christmas cards on a card table in the living room were ready for mailing. Several parcels against the wall in the kitchen were similarly ready.

A grocery list, a gift list, and a clip board used by Mrs. Parker in her work, were on the kitchen cabinet-table.

Several types of shoes were strewn on the living room floor, but these were apparently carried around the house by the Parker's two-month-old puppy.

The front bedroom where Mrs. Parker was found trussed and gagged on the bed showed no evidence of the violence.

Scheele explained that position of the bed had been changed and the clock overturned by firemen with a resucitator, who were called to the scene by Mr. Parker.

The other bedroom was apparently used as a den.

Had Planned Visit

Officers said the Parkers had planned to spend Christmas at the farm home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs Lynn Parker of Henderson, Ia., before going on to Des Moines for New Year's Day with his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morrison Jr.

A clotheslines in the basement had been cut to obtain the 12 and seven-foot lengths of cord with which Mrs. Parker had been trussed. About six pairs of nylon hose were hanging on the remaining line.

The basement was almost barren except for a clothes washer, fruit shelves, and some odds and ends.

4th Unsolved Murder Here

The mysterious strangling of Mrs. Nancy Parker, 22-year-old wife of City Forrester Darrel Parker, brought to four the number of unsolved murders in Lincoln since 1933. Mrs. Parker was murdered Wednesday.

The other unsolved crimes:

1933: Dan Williams, 60, a fruit store operator was found unconscious in his store. He died without revealing his assailiant. Motive: apparently robbery.

1951: Mrs. Hattie Wambold, 52, was found dead in her home. An autopsy showed broken ribs and bruises. A coroner's jury ruled her death as by an act of violence.

1954: Transient Robert M. Lincoln, 43, was found just outside the city limits near West 2nd and J. A bullet wound apparently was the cause of his death.

1955: Mrs. Nancy Parker, 22, was found trussed and strangled in her Antelope Park home. No motive has been established although there is a possibility of a sexual attack.

Parents Worried About Isolation

The isolated location of the Parker home in which the body of Mrs. Nancy Parker was discovered, caused her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morrison, Jr., of Des Moines, to worry.

Mrs. Morison said that both she and her husband were worried after her daughter told of a break-in attempt of the Antelope Park residence last Nov. 13.

Mrs. Morrison said the young couple had held an open house at their home on that day. They had left later with friends and returned to find a prowler had visited the place.

Apparently the prowler had entered through a window and fled when the couple returned. A pair of black gloves was missing.

Mrs. Morrison flew to Lincoln Wednesday afternoon after she learned of her daughter's murder. Her husband, a special music instructor in Des Moines schools, arrived early Thursday morning by train.

Also here were Parker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Parker, who drove from their Henderson, Ia., farm home.

Murder Victim's Funeral Rites To Be Saturday In Des Moines

Funeral services for Mrs. Nancy Ellen Parker, slain at her home Wednesday, will be in Des Moines, Ia., Saturday afternoon at the Dunn Funeral Home.

The Rev. Dwaine Farris will officiate at the services. Time of the services had not been set late Thursday.

Germany Elected

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U.N. Economic and Social Council elected West Germany to the European Economic Commission. The vote was 16-2. The Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia voted against.

The Council rejected, 13-5, a move by Czechoslovakia to put Communist East Germany in the commission.

State Hospital Employe Union Names Officers

New officers of the Lincoln State Hospital Employes Local 968 of the State, County and Municipal Employes Union have been installed.

They are Ole Hansen, chairman; May Pierce, vice chairman; Ruby Russell, treasurer; and Whitten Cook, secretary.

Mrs. Parker was born July 2, 1933, was graduated from Roosevelt High School in Des Moines in 1951, and received her degree from Iowa State College in June, 1955.

She had worked summers from 1949 through 1952 as a dietician's assistant at Iowa Methodist Hospital, and had spent the summer of 1953 as a waitress at Sylvan Lake Hotel, Custer, S. D.

Described as an above average student and a quiet girl in school, Mrs. Parker had gone steady with her future husband, Darrell F. Parker, since 1951, when they had met at Iowa State. Their engagement was announced in October of 1953, and they were married in March of 1954.

Parker graduated in June of 1954 and came to Lincoln as city forester, but his wife stayed at Ames to finish work on her degree, graduating in June of 1955 after which she came to live in Lincoln with her husband.

Mrs. Parker's parents, who survive, are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morrison Jr. of Des Moines. Mr. Morrison has played with several symphony orchestras and bands, and has been a music instructor in the Des Moines public schools for the last 20 years.

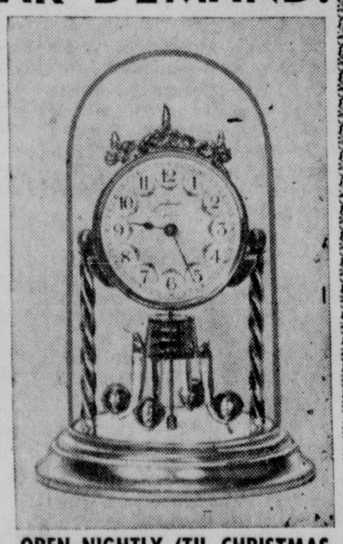

Mrs. Parker herself played clarinet in high school and college.

Joint NATO Air Raid Warning Net Planned

PARIS (AP)—Western statesmen decided Thursday to construct a unified air raid warning screen from Norway across Europe to Turkey, backed by a new jam-proof communications net.

The United States will pay for the beginning of this installation.

The foreign, finance and defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization took this step on an urgent report from U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles that the Soviet Union has reopened the cold war.

Threat Greater

NATO's own military planners backed Dulles with a warning that the Russian military threat is greater now than ever before. The Soviets now have speedy jet bombers capable of blasting any part of the NATO area with tremendous nuclear explosives.

Proposals submitted in person by Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander in Europe, for a more efficient co-ordination of air defenses as a step toward their eventual integration were accepted promptly by the NATO ministers. The Gruenther program will lump the various national air defenses in four regions —North, Central and South Europe, and Britain.

Gruenther's proposals conform to a plan advanced by Dutch Foreign Minister Johan W. Beyen for a complete unification of Western Europe's aerial defenses. In today's session, it was learned, Beyen commented that the Gruenther ideas were fine but did not go far enough.

Gruenther told a news conference later that his command staff felt co-ordination of air forces is as much as the NATO members can undertake now.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe also felt, he said, that this is as much as SHAPE's personnel and equipment can handle at present.

But the general asserted that the companion decision to unify the radar warning screen and to build a single new communications network represented a great change in the Alliance—the recognition that protection of national territory far behind potential fighting lines is no longer a purely national responsibility but a joint one.

Benson's Mail Is Heavy From Midwest

Messages From Nebraskans Are Both Critical, Praising

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson really opened the gate a few weeks ago when he invited suggestions on the farm problem from citizens.

More than 5,000 letters have rolled in to date. Some are sure they have the answer. Some berate Benson. Others praise his actions.

Only about 200 have been either extremely critical or have suggested that Benson resign, explained Ernest C. Betts, an aide who has been processing the letters.

300 Supporters

More than 300 give "strong personal support" to Benson, Betts said, and about 60 per cent of the letters have constructive suggestions.

"We're getting an unusually heavy volume of mail from midwestern states, including Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, North and South Dakota," Betts said. He added: "Most of the critical mail is coming from those states, too."

Some examples:

From South Omaha: "Don't let any group convince you that the government should pay any one for doing what they can do for themselves."

Why Exclude Farmers?

Loup City, Neb.: "Outside a blizzard is raging and inside my soul another one is raging . . . why should the salaries of all others be increased, yet you ask the farmers to take 2-3 less and produce food at a loss . . . It took 20 years for a nation to forget the supidity of the Republicans, this time it may take 40 years."

Rapid City, S. D.: "Overproduction has been created by high government supports. This has taken much of the risk out of farming and therefore has attracted capital from the financial centers for large scale operations."

Charitan, Iowa, farm couple: "Please stay with your job and your convictions. We and our neighbors are not starving and are nowhere near as bad off as we were in the 1930's. It's just that everyone demands the luxuries of the war years. We have become greedy and have forgotten that we are not entitled to what we do not earn."

Waco, Neb.: In order for a farmer to receive support payments, he must receive a major percentage of his income from his farm, 80-90 per cent. There should be a limit to the amount he receives from support programs of all kinds. In our area that limit should be 10 to 12 thousand dollars. Allotments should be in bushels."

Omaha U Gets $100,000 From Martin Estate

BALTIMORE (AP)—Glenn L. Martin, pioneer flier and airplane builder, left charitable gifts totaling $3,635,000, his will probated in orphans court Thursday disclosed.

The largest gift, two million dollars, went to the board of regents of the University of Maryland to be added to the Minta Martin aeronautics research foundation at the school.

Martin, 69, died Dec. 4 at his home here.

Fifteen other charitable gifts in his will totaled $1,625,000.

Martin's sister, Miss Della Martin of South San Gabriel, Calif., was left a $50,000 trust fund, and any residue of the estate is to be distributed to heirs under Maryland law.

Other bequests included $100,000 to the University of Omaha.

Christmas Concert

HOWELLS, Neb. — A Christmas concert will be held at the Howells School auditorium Wednesday, under the leadership of Marvin Wegner, music teacher.

Dr. Loring recalls by-gone ski champ days.

Snow-Covered Campus Brings Ski Champ Out Of Retirement

CRETE, Neb. — The white blanket of snow over the rolling hills of the Doane College campus this week gave "Herbski" Loring itching feet — inside ski boots, of course.

For "Herbski" — a nickname never actually claimed by Dr. Herbert R. Loring, Doane professor of religion — is a former national ski jump champion.

It was at the National Ski Meet in Brattleboro, Vermont, that Dr. Loring placed first in ski jump competition.

"That was in 1929," grins the Doane professor, not betraying his age, "and it was in the junior division — for 16 years of age and under."

Dr. Loring, a native New Englander with a Nebraska crew-cut, began to ski when he was seven years old. Though he was born in Massachusetts, he spent most of his youth in Vermont and New Hampshire. He is a graduate of Dartmouth, and as a freshman was a member of the ski squad when Dartmouth won the National Intercollegiate ski championship in 1934.

In addition to heading the Doane department of religion, Dr. Loring, who has a B. D. from Chicago Theological Seminary and a Th. D. from Boston University, serves Crete's Plymouth Congregational Church as pastor. During World War II he served as an Air Corps chaplain.

And when was the last time he was on skis? This week, Dr. Loring took a ski tour about the Doane campus and down one of Crete's snow-packed streets, and, "It felt great!"

Workers Testify Unionists Forced To Support Demos

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two working men who belong both to the CIO and the Republican party complained Thursday that they and likeminded unionists are being forced to contribute to the Democrats.

Harry F. Brothers of Ypsilanti, Mich., who said he had been a member of the CIO United Auto Workers for 15 years, told a news conference called by Sen. Curtis (R-Neb):

"It's no secret that the union bosses are taking vast sums from union dues and are placing them at the disposal of the Democrats.

Oppose Action

"As a Republican, I bitterly oppose being compelled to make involuntary contributions through the use of my dues to finance the party I vote against at the polls.

"And there are millions of rank and file men in this country who are as bitter about it as I am."

Walter J. Brauninger of Chelsea, Mich., a CIO UAW member since 1942, told the same conference that independent surveys in Michigan showed 40 per cent of union members had voted the Republican presidential ticket in 1952 while most union leaders and funds backed the Democrats.

Brauninger said Gus Scholle and Walter Reuther, the Michigan and national heads of the CIO, respectively, were both unfriendly to all Republican candidates.

Airman Is Fined In Check Fraud

William Arthur Kay, a 23-year-old airman from Atlanta, Ga., was fined $150 in Lancaster District Court Thursday on a fraudulent check charge.

Kay has pleaded guilty to issuing a $60 check Nov. 26 with intent to defraud a Lincoln department store. The court was told full restitution had been made on the charged check and two others.

Air Base authorities indicated in court that the airman, who has a "very responsible job at the base," will face disciplinary action there.

Ex-Saline Official Demands Reinstatement

WILBER, Neb. — Former Saline County Superintendent of Schools G. T. Boone in a request filed with the county clerk and county attorney asked that he be reinstated without delay and that demands against him to re-pay $465 to school funds be dropped.

Boone, ousted by the county commissioners after they charged him with misuse of funds, said in a public statement he was "accused, condemned sentenced and fired, all in 30 minutes" without being asked to explain his side of the issue.

The issue evolved around the purchase of an air-conditioning set for office use and financing a trip to a convention from the Activity and Institute funds.

"I have followed the policies set up by former county superintendents in Saline County in using both these funds," he said.

The Activity fund was set up by a former superintendent to purchase supplies office equipment and other minor items. Since the air conditioner is office equipment, he said, there was no misuse of funds.

Records in the superintendent's office showed that Institute funds "have previously been used to finance trips to National Educational conventions."

The commissioners asked his resignation and that $230 of the Activity and $235 to the Institute funds be repaid by Dec. 1.

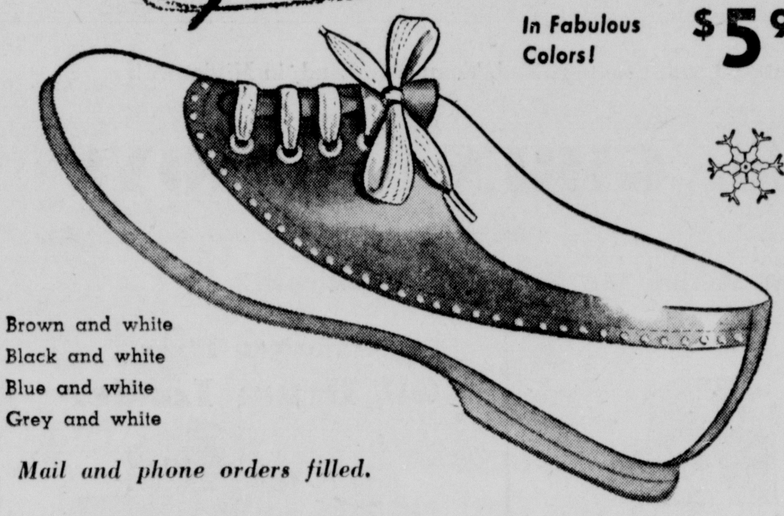

The commissioners, the statement said, without warning "asked for my resignation and pushed a previously typewritten statement over to me for my signature. I was not given an opportunity to secure legal advice. Evidently I had been condemned before appearing at the meeting."

Saline County commissioners, are J. C. Symovec of Tobias, Anton Bohac of Crete and Joseph Stejskal of Friend, were attending the county officials meeting in Omaha and unavailable for comment.

Town Talk

TOWN TALK this morning has the Christmas theme, all of it news of guests — and in addition we have numerous prenuptial courtesies for a popular December-bride-elect — Then there is the school set, but since it comes under the heading of "Christmas," we won't put it in a special category—

However, we're sure you will be interested in the news that the Shattuck School boys will be arriving from Faribault, Minn., on Friday to spend the holidays with their families — Included in the Shattuck contingent are Arthur Blackman, Robert Hinrichs, Robert Neely, W. Jon Sieck, and William Wilson.

* * *

ON Saturday, so we hear, Miss Helen Kalin, who is a freshman at St. Mary's-of-the-Woods, Terre Haute, Ind., arrives to be the holiday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Kalin.

During the holiday week Miss Kalin and her sister, Louise Kalin will be tea hostesses at their home between the hours of 2 o'clock and 4 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 28. The first hour will be devoted to Miss Louise's young friends, and the friends of Miss Helen will compose the guest list for the second hour.

* * *

OUR guest book has some interesting notations this morning— First there was news of the Sunday arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glover and their two children, Bob Jr., and Cathy, who are coming from Burbank, Calif., to be the holiday guests of Mrs. Glover's father, George L. Towne, and Mrs. Towne. Mrs. Glover will be remembered as Jean Towne, Kappa Alpha Theta at Nebraska — and just as a refresher — Mr. Glover is a Phi Gam at Nebraska.

* * *

COMING from Portland, Ore., on Tuesday will be Dr. and Mrs. Ted Lehman and their small daughter, Paula Lynn, who will go first to Omaha where they will visit Mrs. Lehman's mother, Mrs. M. Walters. On Christmas Eve the trio of Lehmans will come to Lincoln to spend the remainder of the holidays with Dr. Lehman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Lehman.

* * *

FROM South Hadley, Mass., on Saturday comes Miss Nancy Benjamin who will spend two weeks as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Benjamin. CHRISTMAS week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Golding will be Mrs. Golding's parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Zimmerer of Nebraska City.

* * *

NOW for our bride-elect who is Miss Mary Janet Reed — Miss Reed's marriage to Ens. Ted Barger will be solemnized on Thursday, Dec. 22, but between now and then there are a number of prenuptial courtesies to be added to her already long list of parties.

On Friday evening Miss Reed will be an honoree when Mrs. Robert Fricke of Ashland and Mrs. Wesley Barton will be hostesses at an informal party at the home of Mrs. Barton—

And on Saturday Miss Reed will be the incentive for a 12:30 o'clock brunch at Hotel Cornhusker for which Miss Ting Lilly, Mrs. Maynard Wood, Mrs. Michael Lawlor of Waco, Tex., and Miss Blythe Thomsen of Beatrice will be hostesses.

* * *

Afghanistan Cool To Touring Reds

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — Snow and a comparatively cool reception greeted Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party leader Nikita S. Khrushchev when they arrived here Thursday on the last stop of their Asian tour.

Afghan Premier Mohammed Daud and a guard of honor were at the airport, but nowhere were there the roaring crowds which had greeted the Russians in India and Burma.

In keeping with the Afghan government's apparent intent to play down the visit, flags and bunting appeared belatedly on public buildings today and the government-controlled press for the first time announced the Russians' scheduled arrival.

Brief Speech

In a brief speech at the airport, Bulganin said Russia "knows Afghanistan is increasingly following a policy of neutrality while seeking peace." He declared conditions exist "for expanding and strengthening Afghan-Soviet relations."

Observers here said the quiet reception was planned because the government did not wish to spark the latent anti-Russian feeling traditional among Afghans. The government wants close Russian ties, these sources said, but does not want to appear a Soviet satellite.

Scouts Go Home

On at least one wall someone had painted: "Soviets go home."

Recalling the Russians' support for India in her dispute with Pakistan over Kashmir, observers were interested to note the presence of "Pushtoonistan" supporters carrying banners among the generally silent crowds who watched the arrival. Apparently these Afghans were hopeful of Soviet support for a new state of Pushtoonistan for Pathan tribesmen to be carved out of neighboring Pakistan.

Soldiers and police lined the road as Bulganin and Khrushchev drove with Daud to his guest house. King Mohammed Zahir Shah arranged a dinner for the visitors Thursday. Daud will give a banquet tomorrow.

During their visit of three to five days the Afghan government may whip up a larger and more vocal reception by the people. Student sources said although the school term ended two weeks ago, the government had delayed promoting pupils to higher grades so they would not leave the city. Many students live hundreds of miles from Kabul but are waiting to go home until they receive their promotions.

Britain Protests Israel's Attack On Syrian Posts

LONDON (AP) — Britain formally protested to Israel Thursday against the attack Sunday by Israeli forces on Syrian positions along the shores of the Sea of Galilee.

Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick, British permanent undersecretary, summoned Israeli Ambassador Eliahu Elath to the Foreign Office and expressed "grave concern" at the Israeli assault in which more than 50 Syrians were killed, by Israeli count.

The Foreign Office said Sir Ivone informed Elath that Britain "would support the Syrian appeal to the United Nations" against the Israeli action. The Security Council meets Friday to consider Syria's complaint.

Soap dries your skin, but

DOVE creams your skin while you wash

New toilet bar is one-quarter cleansing cream

ORDINARY toilet soap dries your skin. But DOVE, the sensational new toilet bar, is different. It actually creams your skin while you wash.

You use DOVE just like soap—in your shower, bathtub and wash basin. But DOVE is a completely new formula. It makes soap old-fashioned.

One-quarter of every bar of DOVE is rich cleansing-cream. That's why DOVE makes your skin feel so soft and smooth—with none of that dry, tight feeling you get from using soap. DOVE is good for your skin.

You can feel the rich cleansing-cream in DOVE. You can actually smell its creamy fragrance.

DOVE lathers instantly—even in hardest water. And it leaves no bathtub ring.

DOVE looks different, too. It has a fascinating new shape—sculptured to fit the hand.

Lever Brothers unconditionally guarantees that DOVE is better for your complexion than any toilet soap. If you don't agree—you'll get your money back.

You can smell the rich beauty-cream fragrance in every bar of DOVE. It's at least three times more creamy than any soap.

Lincoln City Lines Fare Increase Rehearing Arguments Presented

The State Railway Commission Thursday heard oral arguments from Lincoln City Lines seeking a rehearing on the commission's refusal to grant a rate increase on Nov. 4.

Attorneys for the parent National City Lines of Chicago told the commission the Lincoln lines could become "a dead horse" if the downward trend in revenue continues.

"To retain the financial integrity of the company we have come before you before the horse is dead," Attorney Fred Petit, Chicago, told the commission.

In Non-Lincoln Banks

Earlier evidence had been that the company operated $50,000 "in the black" last year and that $500,000 of Lincoln profits were deposited in banks in other cities.

The company argued that the future should be considered rather than the past and R. E. James, vice-president of National City Lines said that November revenue from passengers was $47,790 as compared with $50,782 last November. He said that normally the month is one of the best revenue producers. He asserted that adequate bus revenue is a nation-wide problem.

The commission was told that if the increase is not granted the equipment will deteriorate and if the city takes over the lines there will be nothing of value for them to take over.

James praised the operation of the lines in Lincoln and said we have "the finest transportation in the state."

John R. Doyle, Lincoln representative of the company, told of the competition from private cars and taxicabs. He pointed out that there was no opposition expressed at the hearing.

The company did not express intent to introduce new evidence to substantiate their request if granted a new hearing. No complaint was made of errors at the earlier hearing with the exception of the refusal to grant the increase.

The company seeks to charge 55 cents for four tokens instead of 50 cents. The straight cash fare for adults would remain at 15 cents. The fare for children would be 10 cents while now it is two tokens for 15 cents.

Can't Justify

WASHINGTON (INS)—Rep. Wilber D. Mills (D-Ark), said the government cannot justify a further tax cut on U. S. investment abroad when "we cannot reduce taxes on domestic investment."

Mills, chairman of a joint congressional subcommittee on tax policy, explained he is opposed to administration recommendations that private American investments overseas be awarded the same special tax treatment now reserved for investments in the Western hemisphere.

WheatCommission Plans Hiring A Full-Time Officer

A full-time head for the Nebraska Wheat Commission will be named in a few weeks, Commission Chairman Carson Smith of Ogallala announced.

The 10-man commission was created by the Legislature this year to find ways of utilizing wheat and improving its production and marketing in the state.

Since the commission became active in September, $14,767.21 has been collected. The group is financed by a quarter-cent a bushel tax on all Nebraska wheat.

Temporary offices have been opened in the Federal Securities Building in Lincoln.

The next commission meeting is scheduled for Jan. 16-17.

Rayburn Predicts A School Aid Bill Will Pass House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) predicted Thursday that a bill providing federal aid for school construction will pass the House in the new session that begins next month.

"I think we'll get a school bill," he said, "because it's becoming more and more evident there is a serious classroom shortage."

Rayburn said Democratic leaders would try for early action.

The House Education Committee has a bill ready, having passed it before Congress quit last summer. It would distribute $1,600,000,000 among the states for school construction over four years, and authorize the federal government to underwrite state and local financing of additional construction.

One stumbling block involves the issue of racial segregation. A Negro Democrat, Rep. Powell of New York, has drawn up an amendment which would forbid spending federal money in school districts in which Negro and white pupils are separated.

99 Leftists Nabbed

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Police arrested 99 leftists who defied the ban on the assembly of more than four people and demonstrated against the Indian government's decision to create a separate Bombay city-state among the Marathi-speaking people.

Mails Shoot Up Toward New Records

Christmas mail at the Lincoln Post Office appeared headed for a new record-breaking season, according to Supt. of Mails Gerald Jones.

After running slightly behind last December, the Yuletide letters and parcels—both incoming and outgoing—have now shot substantially ahead of 1954's comparable figures.

December figures through Wednesday were 15,430 pounds ahead of last year for outgoing first-class letters and 11,392 pounds ahead on parcel post.

Comparable incoming figures for the two Decembers showed an increase of 13,501 pounds on letters and 52,373 pounds on packages.

"So far," Jones said, "it looks like another record-breaking year."

Action Urged

LONDON (AP)—A British Medical Assn. committee recommended that police clear prostitutes from the streets of large cities to reduce temptation, particularly for younger people.

Its report was submitted to a government body investigating homosexuality and prostitution.

How to make Clabber Girl's SNOW CAKE

White as white, light as light—with tender texture and delicate flavor: that's Clabber Girl's Snow Cake. A pretty picture when finished and a cake really to be proud of having baked yourself.

SNOW CAKE Yield: 2 8-inch layers

- 2½ cups sifted cake flour
- 2½ teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¾ teaspoon finely grated lemon rind
- 1¼ cups beet or cane sugar
- ½ cup shortening
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup milk
- 3 egg whites

Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Crush together with fork the lemon rind and ¼ cup of the sugar; add to shortening; beat together until fluffy. Beat in gradually ½ cup sugar and the vanilla. Beat in gradually ¼ cup milk. Beat in remaining ½ cup sugar. Stir in by hand or at lowest speed with electric mixer, the sifted dry ingredients and remaining ¾ cup milk, by fourths, alternately, blending well after each addition. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Stir quickly into batter. Bake in two oiled or greased 8-inch layer cake pans at 350°F. (moderate oven) about 30 minutes. Fill and frost with Seven Minute Frosting and garnish with shredded coconut between layers and on top.

Colin Kelly III, Son Of Famous War Hero, Steps Into Public Eye

CONCORDVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Colin P. Kelly III, 15-year-old son of one of the nation's first World War II heroes, received his Eagle Scout award Thursday night at an impressive ceremony in a little church near his home.

Bearing a striking resemblance to his father, the tall, red-haired boy—known as Corky to practically everybody — stood between his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. J. Watson Pedlow as with fitting shyness he accepted the honor.

Reporters and cameramen were on hand for what in a sense might be called Corky's coming out party. Until now his family has sought to guard him against publicity, feeling that he should live the life of a normal boy, instead of a celebrity.

Judge William R. Toal, of the Delaware County Court in this southeastern corner of Pennsylvania, touched upon that theme when he presented the coveted Boy Scout award. He said "a son who bears the mantle of a great father" is up against very special difficulties that are by no means easily overcome.

Great Ideal

"But this is the great benefit of scouting," Judge Toal said, "young Corky, through perseverance and integrity, has earned for himself the nation's highest scouting award. He has lived with a great ideal and tonight he is not found wanting."

Only a couple of weeks ago the boy said that he was eager to go into the United States Air Force, thus following his valorous father's example, and to attend either West Point or the Air Force Academy in Colorado.

The way to West Point was cleared for him by President Roosevelt when Corky was a mere baby. After Capt. Colin Kelly lost his life in action in the Pacific soon after Pearl Harbor, President Roosevelt decreed that his son could go to the military academy when he arrived at the eligible age. That will be in 1957.

Chicken Theft Innocence Is Declared

Carl Freeman, 53, from Omaha, pleaded innocent in Lancaster County Court on charged counts of chicken theft, second offense, and of being a habitual criminal.

Freeman, released in February from the Penitentiary where he served a five to ten-year term for chicken theft in 1948, was specifically charged with the Nov. 27 theft of 100 chickens, worth in excess of $100, from the John Swanson farm about nine miles north of Lincoln.

The information alleged a previous chicken theft conviction Aug. 22, 1934, in Saunders County and a one-year sentence.

Previous convictions alleged under the habitual criminal count were for chicken theft in 1934, for forgery in 1940 and for second offense chicken theft in 1942.

Freeman, under five alias, has served prison terms since 1920 for a long string of convictions including forgery, auto theft, manslaughter and several chicken thefts, according to law enforcement records.

A Penitentiary parolee apprehended with Freeman by the Lancaster County sheriff's office has been returned to the prison by the state parole officer.

Alvin Kilgore, 45, formerly of Council Bluffs, Ia., had been paroled from the Penitentiary last June after serving 20 years on a life sentence for second-degree murder in connection with the shooting of a Council Bluffs policeman following a holdup attempt.

The two men were arrested about 2:30 a.m. Tuesday after a deputy sheriff stopped their car on a routine check and noticed gunny sacks and chicken feathers in the car.

Freeman is being held under $3,000 bond pending a preliminary hearing Dec. 30 before County Judge Herbert Ronin.

When arraigned, Freeman told the court that "every time I have been guilty I've pleaded guilty, but I'm absolutely not guilty of this charge."

Sec. Benson Rejects Hickenlooper Incentive-Pay Plan In Pork Surplus Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson has definitely turned down a suggestion of Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) that incentive payments be made to farmers who sell female pigs during the next few weeks.

Hickenlooper said Benson wrote him he felt that the disadvantages of the proposal outweighed the advantages. It was aimed largely at cutting down the pork surplus.

"I regard the secretary's decision as final," Hickenlooper said. The senator said he believed the program had received wide general publicity in the last week or so and had been given serious consideration by Benson and his department associates.

The Iowan's plan called for the agriculture department to pay farmers an incentive of $5 to $7.50 a hundred pounds above the sale price on all sows or gilts (young female pigs) they marketed during the next few weeks. He felt that this would increase farmers' incomes, halt the decline in hog prices and also reduce the 1956 pig crop.

Hickenlooper had estimated the program would cost between 100 and 150 million dollars.

Benson had announced last weekend that his 85 million dollar pork purchase plan, aimed at increasing hog prices, would continue. The secretary said then "We do not plan any changes. Farmers must adjust their breeding program to market demand."

In his letter to Hickenlooper, which the senator made public, Benson said he recognized that Hickenlooper's plan would provide direct financial assistance to some hog producers, but that it would have some undesirable results. Benson added:

"Marketings of hogs for slaughter during the incentive payment period would be stimulated considerably and market prices of hogs would be depressed during a time when otherwise some strengthening in prices might occur.

No Payments

"After the incentive payment program was over marketing of hogs and gilts probably would be reduced perhaps enough to offset the number marketed during the incentive period. Many producers who had marketed gilts and sows prior to the payment period would receive no payments despite the fact that they received low prices. Such producers would not feel that they had received equal treatment and the same feeling might also develop among producers who for one reason or another found it necessary or desirable to market sows and gilts after the close of the incentive payment period."

Benson said he felt the disadvantages outweighed the advantages, "entirely aside from the kind of precedent which such a program for hogs might create with respect to other commodities or classes of livestock."

Hog marketings, he said, are now at their seasonal peak and with the continuation of the pork purchase program and with reduced marketings in the coming weeks, "We should be able to achieve a substantial improvement in the hog situation."

Mrs. Mortison Funeral Monday

Strikers Rejected

PITTSBURGH (INS) — Westinghouse Electric Corp., rejected an offer from the striking independent United Electrical Workers Union to send 10,000 men back to work at 14 plants.

The UE had proposed that the employes go back to their jobs with an immediate 3 per cent pay increase while other issues of the eight-week old walkout are being negotiated.

Averaged Inventory Law 'Out'

Herrington Decides To Disregard Act

State Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington announced Thursday that provisions of the average annual inventory law passed by the 1955 Legislature will be disregarded in line with an attorney general's opinion that the act is unconstitutional.

The act was passed with idea of giving tax relief to businesses and farms which have a high seasonal inventory at assessment time, March 1, and a relatively low inventory the remainder of the year.

Herrington said the attorney general's opinion makes it "necessary" to disregard the act, and to continue to assess as in the past on the basis of goods actually on hand on March 1.

The possibility remained that there still might be a court test of the act, if some person or group with high seasonal inventory in March should seek to mandamus taxing officials to observe the act.

The possible effect of such a move was not clear, however, because time is short to obtain a court decision on the matter by March 1.

Hay Feeding Early This Year Due To Severe Weather

Winter marched in early on the range country this year, making it necessary to start hay feeding four to six weeks early in the northern Plains and mountain areas.

A continued severe winter will bring more stockers and feeders than usual to market after the first of the year, to save on hay supplies in this range area. And Everett Peterson and Eldon Erickson, farm economists at the University of Nebraska, say this could produce some bargains for farmers interested in buying replacement cattle.

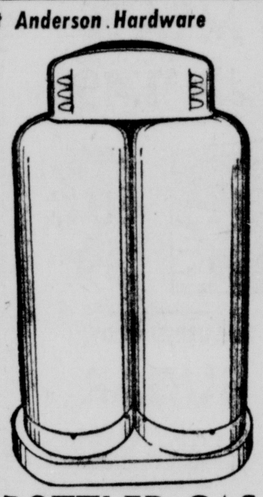

The big question in Nebraska and other western Corn Belt areas is whether it will rain enough next year to provide pastures and feed grains to finish out these cattle.

NPPS 9-Month Revenue Shows Increase Over Same '54 Period

Net Income Only $301,673 However, Gentleman Reports

The Nebraska Public Power System Thursday revealed operating revenues of $8,652,131 for the first 9 months of 1955 — an increase of $204,105 over the corresponding period a year ago.

But despite the gain, the net income of the agency was only $301,637, according to Gerald Gentleman, North Platte, chairman of the NPPS board of managers.

Gentleman nad earlier told Gov. Victor Anderson that a .4 mill increase in power rates to the Consumers Public Power District and the Rural Electric customers would give NPPS net earnings adequate to permit it credit in volume and rate to meet its responsibilities to provide eastern Nebraska its added power needs. He attributed the low earnings to stringent conditions of cost-of-service contracts in effect with the other agencies.

Discussing the NPPS financial report Gentleman pointed out — each $100 in sales on the part of Nebraska Public Power System, only $3.50 is retained as net revenues." he continued.

Revenue Recalled

Gentleman referred to a recent statement of Consumers, a customer of NPPS, showing operating revenues of $10,482,780, and a net of $2,533,282 for the first nine months of this year.

Consumers, Gentleman commented, "retained 24 per cent of its gross, and on each $100 of sales it had earnings of $24. As I have always maintained, this has a very substantial bearing on its credit," Gentleman commented.

Such an increase as Gentleman suggested would have cost Consumers $202,406, he explained. But the recent Consumers report show its net revenue had increased $229,000 for the first three quarters this year, compared to the corresponding period of 1954.

Since Consumers' net revenues increased $229,000, it could have absorbed the proposed increase in power costs from this year's increase in net revenues, Gentleman contended.

Operations Up

The NPPS report showed operating expenses amounting to $6,089,399 for the nine-month period, compared to $5,606,852 in the corresponding period of last year.

Debt service for the period cost $1,148,725, and the depreciation figure was $1,181,021.

Gentleman said the statement released Thursday is the kind prepared every three months for distribution to the bankers who have handled the system's bonds.

Consumers' credit rating is one of the points on which it has based its contention that it should be allowed to build a generating plnat in eastern Nebraska.

The district now buys its electricity from NPPS, which is jointly owned and operated by the Loup River Power District of Columbus and the Platte Valley Public Power a Irrigation District of North Platte.

Unfriendly Act

MOSCOW (AP) — The magazine New Times warned Iran Thursday the Soviet Union would consider a grant of oil concessions in northern Iran to U.S. companies as an unfriendly act and a violation of the 1941 Soviet-Iranian treaty.

The magazine, citing an Iranian report that a U.S. company indentified only as Grado is seeking leases in northern Iran, said such concessions "would open for U.S. spies the possibility of free activity near the Soviet Union's borders."

Pen Inmate Gets Year For Arson

Penitentiary Inmate James E. Watson, 26, was sentenced Thursday to an additional year's imprisonment on a second-degree arson charge in connection with the Aug. 16 fire and riot at the prison.

Watson, a former Omaha boxer, had originally been sentenced to th Reformatory for burglary in 1952. While on parole, he was convicted of grand larceny in Douglas County and is now serving a three-year term on that conviction.

Last week, Watson had asked the court's permission to change an earlier plea of guilty to one of innocent, but Judge Harry R. Ankey overruled the motion.

In pleading guilty, Watson admitted in court throwing a blanket on the fire in the prison novelty shop.

Defective Road Laws Have Become A Major Problem, Schlitt Says

OMAHA (AP) — The matter of defective road laws is now a matter of major concern because the law has failed to keep pace over the years with the strides made by modern engineering practices, Schlitt said Thursday.

Schlitt spoke on county road laws revision at the annual convention of the State Association of County Engineers.

He pointed out that a complete revision of state highway laws carried out by the 1955 Legislature went into effect Sept. 18.

The county road laws now are in the process of being revised, but this is a much bigger task, Schlitt explained. There were only 32 sections of law relating to state highways, but more than 525 sections are involved in revising county laws.

As an example of the out-of-date statutes encountered in revising county road laws, he cited the provision for a $20 fine for leaving horses attached to a carriage carrying passengers for hire and for not leaving the reins in the hands of some person to prevent the horses from running away.

A second policy consideration, he continued, relates to the use of federal funds for county road purposes.

"Twenty-three counties in Nebraska have not matched federal funds, and some of the counties which have participated have done so infrequently," Schlitt commented.

"In view of these failures to gain the most advantage from the use of such funds, it appears that some means must be found to encourage participation in this program," he added.

Finally, he said, some consideration should be given to the Schroeder Road Law.

The law marked a milestone in that it provided revenue from improving rural roads and because it recognized the principal that revenue from gasoline taxes should not be diverted to uses other than road purposes, Schlitt said.

But many counties have discovered that the formula for determining the order of road improvement has not been to the best interests of the county and has resulted in inefficient use of some of the money, he continued.

"The fact remains," he concluded, "that a campaign for better roads is not very effective unless we have a campaign for better laws at the same time."

Lyman R. Hanson of Wahoo, president of the County Commissioner group, said "the average man wants good roads, good county officials and lower taxes.

Costs and demands for service keep going up. So do taxes."

Registered on the first day were 43 treasurers, 28 district clerks and 325 county commissioners, supervisors, highway commissioners, supervisors, highway commissioners, county clerks and registers of deeds.

State Sen. Donald McGinley moderated a panel on restoring physically and mentally handicapped persons to usefullness, before a combined meeting of county officials and welfare directors.

The district court clerk with Douglas County's Sidney J. Gottneid as moderator discussed office duties and legislation.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Don't Faucet

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — On a day when New London went 12 hours without water, because of a break in the main, a cigar store had a lot of its merchandise damaged by water. A tenant in an apartment above the store forgot to close a faucet.

Curves That Count

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Take it from a student of curves, the way American women are put together gives them longer life expectancy than men. Louis I. Dublin, actuary and longtime student of life expectancy curves, told an insurance group one reason for the longer lives of women is their basic bone structure and physiology.

Not Guaranteed

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — To ease a traffic hazard at the junction of U. S. 441-State Road 20, safety engineers erected a new stop sign. Thirty minutes later a truck driver saw the sign and applied the brakes. The brakes jammed and the truck overturned. He wasn't hurt.

HUSKERS HOST TO UCLA TONIGHT

Southeast Will Battle With Uni High Tonight

By RON SPEER
Star Sports Staff Member

What could well be the tightest intra-city scrap of the year highlights the weekend cage card for Lincoln prep team.

The match—Southeast vs. University High—is slated for the Tutors gym at 8 p.m. tonight.

Both teams have managed only one win. The Knights have lost twice in other outings while University High was tripped twice in three starts.

It will be the second cross-town battle in as many weeks for Southeast. The Knights bowed to Northeast last Friday.

Southeast has a little better balance, but we saw the damage a red hot pair of Tutor sharpshooters—Marv Bauer and Bill Hunsaker—could do on their home floor. We'll take the Tutors, by about half a point.

The other games tonight are both out of town affairs. Northeast travels to Columbus and Cathedral will be in session at Grand Island St. Mary's.

The Rockets should have little trouble disposing of the Discovers but it may be a tougher fight for the Bluebirds.

We'll pick both to win, hoping the 'Birds can get a toehold on the winning trail after dropping two straight.

Saturday looks like a black night for the Links and Cathedral. Lincoln High is entertaining Omaha Central and the Bluebirds, in their heavy pre-holiday schedule, host St. Bon's of Columbus.

Central will be strongly favored over the Links, who have a 1-3 record. The game will be played at Northeast gym because of a conflicting event at the Southeast floor.

A Cathedral win over St. Bon's would be a mark of distinction for Coach Vince Aldrich's cagers. St. Bon's is the team which ended a 23-game win streak by Omaha Holy Name.

GAMES TONIGHT

Kansas State Scores 92-66

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—Led by big Jack Parr's 26 points, Kansas State trounced Loyola of Los Angeles 92-66 Thursday night in a rough ball game before 7,200 fans.

The K-State Wildcats never were pressed after they grabbed a 4-3 lead with two minutes gone. From that point they widened the gap to 43-29 at halftime.

Besides hitting his highest total of the season, Parr grabbed 20 rebounds, three short of the all-time K-State record held by Dick Knostman. The Wildcats controlled the backboards, getting 74 rebounds as Loyola managed only 43.

It was Kansas State's second victory against two losses. Loyola also has a 2-2 mark.

Phillies Sign Prep Star For Bonus

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies announced Thursday they have signed a prized Newark, N. J., prep school star for a "moderate" bonus.

He is Donald E. Jacquin, 19, right-handed hitting third baseman, who starred for Central high school and St. Benedict's prep school.

The Phils' spokesman said 25 colleges sought the 6-foot, 190-pound athlete as a football player and 14 major league baseball teams expressed interest in his baseball talents.

The Phils said Jacquin was paid less than the $4,000 limit which would have made him a bonus player. He will be assigned to the Three Rivers (Quebec) farm in the Class C Provincial League.

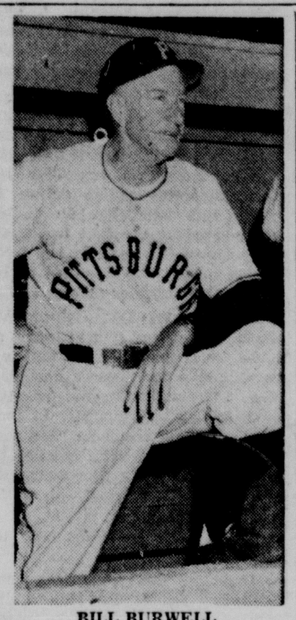

The Phils also signed Clarence A. Shimfessel, Newton, Miss., a 6-1, 176-pound catcher, and assigned him to Salt Lake City of the Class C Pioneer League. Shimfessel, 21, is a senior at Sam Houston State Teachers College.

Benny Finds Way

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jack Benny figured out a way to get into the Rose Bowl game Jan. 2—for free, perhaps.

He signed the rival coaches, Red Sanders of UCLA and Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, to appear on his CBS television show on Sunday, the day before the game.

Benny concluded he'd be able to beg at least one ticket from each coach; embarrass them into it before a national audience, if necessary.

BILL BURWELL

Pittsburgh Post Given To Burwell

Bill Burwell, baseball veteran and manager of the Lincoln Chiefs in 1955, will not return next season.

This was announced late Thursday by Joe L. Brown, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who said Burwell will return to Pittsburgh and serve as a managerial consultant. Burwell held the same position with the Bucs prior to coming to Lincoln.

In Lincoln, a spokesman for the Chiefs said, "Bill was given his release Thursday to permit his return to the Pittsburgh club. We had hoped to sign him again for 1956 but naturally a major league job takes precedence over what any minor league club has to offer."

Burwell's team won 67 and lost 83 in 1955, his only year at Lincoln, finishing in last place in the Western League. But the Chiefs were only 14 games out of first at the conclusion of the season.

Despite the loss of Dick Hall, the league's best pitcher and the Chiefs's leading hitter and outfielder when not hurling, Lincoln stayed in the pennant race and had a chance for the playoffs as late as August 22.

Prior to 1955, Burwell was a Pittsburgh managerial consultant for five years. Before that he was a coach for the Pirates and the Boston Red Sox and managed seven seasons at Indianapolis and Louisville in the American Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Burwell spend the winter months at Daytona Beach, Fla.

Lincoln General Manager Dick Wagner said Thursday that the Chiefs hope to announce the 1956 manager Sunday.

Sooners Gain 69-59 Victory

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Bill Pinkerton and Jimmy Peck went on a second-half scoring binge Thursday night to pace Oklahoma to a 69-59 basketball victory over Arkansas.

Pinkerton, a sophomore forward, scored 18 points, 14 of them in the second half. Peck, a 5-foot-9 jump shot specialist, scored 11 points in the final half and topped the game's scoring with 20 points.

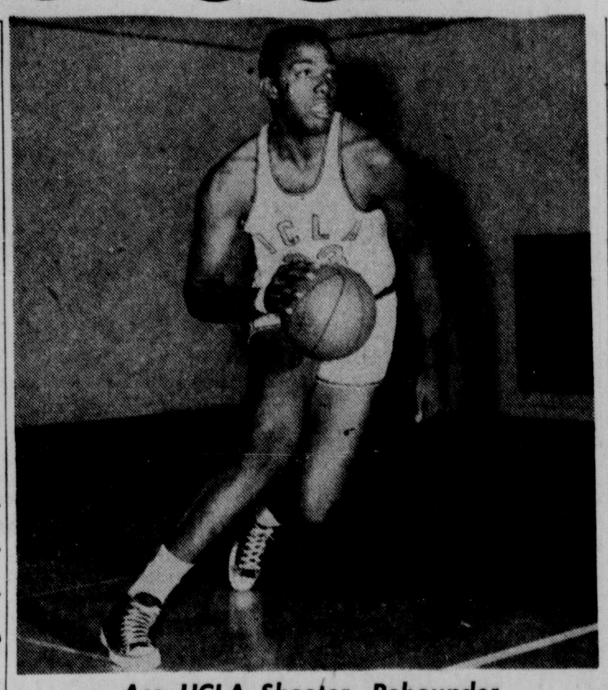

The Sooners took the lead midway through the opening half and never relinquished their advantage, although the Razorbacks edged to within one point, 45-44, with 12:30 remaining in the game. The Sooners were ahead 33-27 at halftime.

Peck and Pinkerton tossed in 17 of the final 22 Oklahoma points to give the Sooners their second victory in five starts.

Pacing the Arkansas scoring was Manuel Whitley, a senior forward, who hit 14 points and grabbed 12 rebounds.

Spendthrift Farm Buys Nashua For $1,251,200

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Nashua, the Belair Stud's champion race horse of 1955, Thursday was sold to a syndicate for a record price of $1,251,200 and immediately the new owners announced the big bay colt would be raced next year.

The successful bidder was a syndicate headed by Leslie Combs II of Spendthrift Farm, Lexington, Ky. Combs declined to name his partners in the largest price ever paid for a race horse. The sellers were the executors of the estate of the late William Woodward Jr.

Combs said he had reached an agreement with 81-year-old Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons to continue training Nashua and would ship him to Miami, Fla., next week to prepare for a winter campaign in which the $100,000 added Widener Handicap at Hialeah Park will be the chief objective. Nashua also has been nominated for the $50,000 added McLennan at Hialeah and the $100,000 added Santa Anita Handicap at Santa Anita in California.

Offer Explained

Combs explained his precise offer of $1,251,200 this way:

"I figured that he's worth $700,000 to $800,000 as a stud horse and —if you're lucky—he should win the rest racing."

Observers, however, said Combs may have added the final $1,200 to the bid as a safety factor in case others bid $1,250,000.

"I'll be happy to train Nashua for Mr. Combs," Fitzsimmons said in Miami, Fla. The dean of American trainers has had the son of Nasrullah-Segula in his charge ever since the big bay came to the races in 1954. Nashua currently is quartered at A. B. Hancock's Claiborne Stud, Paris, Ky.

Mr. Fitz said he thought Nashua "might bring any price, but this was just a little more than my own estimate of his worth."

The entire Belair Stud racing stable was sold to three interests after the executors received sealed bids. The dispersal became necessary following the accidental shooting of Woodward at his Long Island home Oct. 30.

The total realized for all 62 horses, including Nashua, was $1,866,200. Nine race horses and a dozen yearlings were sold to John Kroese of Teaneck, N. J. Mildred W. Woolwine of White Oaks Farm, Lexington, Ky., purchased 24 broodmares and 16 weanlings.

The Hanover Bank and John W. Ludewig, executors of the estate, declined to break down the amounts paid by Kroese or Miss Woolwine out of the total of $615,000.

The previous record for a thoroughbred was $700,000 for Tulyar, the Irish colt who was undefeated in 1952 when he won the Epsom Derby. The Irish National Stud paid the Aga Khan $700,000 for Tulyar.

A 45-member American syndicate announced on Oct. 28, two days before the death of Woodward, that it had purchased Tulyar from the Irish National Stud for $672,000. Tulyar is to be brought to this country for breeding purposes.

Possibly Headed Syndicate

It was believed, although not reported or confirmed by Combs, that he headed a syndicate in purchasing Nashua, a son of Nasrullah-Segula out of Johnstown, the 1939 Kentucky Derby winner.

Rex Ekwall Ready To Go; Starting Five Juggled

Coach Jerry Bush's Nebraska basketball team returns to the friendly confines of the Husker Coliseum tonight for an intersectional contest with UCLA. Game time is 8 p.m.

The Cornhusers, still smarting from the 71-46 licking administered at Wichita Monday, must tackle their usual nemesis against the Uclans—height.

Nebraska has a 1-3 record and in the four games the Huskers have been held to an average of 23 rebounds. Bush's shorter cagers have grabbed 112 rebounds, with Chuck Smith's 31 leading the parade.

Don Smidt follows with 24 steals off the boards.

UCLA, soutnern division champions of the Pacific Coast Conference, is paced by Center Willie Naulls who is 6-5. In four games Naulls has collected 95 points for a 23.8 average.

The Uclans are 2-2 on the year, defeating Denver 68-40 and Purdue 76-60 and losing twice to Brigham Young, 75-58 and 67-65.

Naulls dunked 29 against Denver and 22 against Purdue.

Nebraska's lone win is over Texas Tech, via overtime, while the losses have been to Iowa, Michigan and Wichita.

Smith leads the Husker attack with 74 points for an 18.5 average. Smidt has 36, Jim Kubacki 35 and Rex Ekwall 20.

Ekwall, however, has seen action in only two games. A bout with the cold bug cut him out of the Michigan and Wichita contests.

But the Holmesville vet will be ready for full-time duty against UCLA.

Bush has shaken up his starting crew, inserting Bob Mercier and Norm Coufal at the guards in place of Sophs Kubacki and Gary Reimers.

There's a hitch in these plans, though, and the Husker mentor may have to make a last-minute cnange. Coufal has come up with a case of the flu.

He missed practice Wednesday but put in an appearance Thursday, so he may be okay by Friday night.

Coach Johnny Wooden's Bruins have been pepped by the return of Guard Morris Taft, who missed the opening two games because of a back injury. He played against Denver and Purdue wearing a back brace and hit 15 points against the Boilermakers.

Statistically, the Bruins will have the edge in field goal percentage, while the Huskers have performed better at the free throw line.

UCLA has hit 87 of 245 field goals for a 35.5 per cent, while Nebraska's mark is 79 for 236, 33.5 per cent. In the free throw department, the Huskers are 79-131 or 60.3 per cent and UCLA is 68-127 or 53.5 per cent.

Following the Nebraska game UCLA will travel to Wichita

Coach Tony Sharpe's Husker freshman will open the Friday night festivities with a 6:30 p.m., intra-squad skirmish.

The starters:

The announcement from Pittsburgh that Bill Burwell will not return as the Lincoln Chiefs' manager comes as no surprise.

During one of our chats with Joe L. Brown, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, at the Columbus convention we asked if Burwell would be back.

Brown wasn't ready to commit himself completely, but he indicated that he had other plans for Bill.

"We haven't definitely decided about Lincoln," Joe said. "But we feel that Bill is too valuable a man to keep in a managerial status."

Joe explained that the Pirates are interested in providing a top manager for Lincoln, but he said, "Bill is such a fine baseball man that we feel he should be free to visit various clubs and help a lot of youngsters instead of being isolated at one spot."

Thus Burwell will once again be a "managerial consultant" for the Pirates. He's big-league quality all the way and that's where he should be.

Bill is one of the real fine persons in baseball and it was a pleasure working with him during his stay with the Chiefs. Certainly the good wishes of Lincoln baseball fans will go with him when he returns to the Pittsburgh fold.

Kenneth Olson of Wahoo asks "who hit the ball that Brooklyn's Sandy Amoros caught in deep left field corner and doubled Gil McDougald in the final game of the 1955 World Series?"

The answer is the American League's MVP, Yankee Catcher Yogi Berra.

Just received a Christmas card from June Byers, world's champion girl wrestler, complete with a picture of June holding a Pekingese dog.

June has headlined a lot of Prof. Adam Krieger's mat shows.

Roscoe Hill of Lincoln is making quite a name for himself as a soccer player at Carleton College in Northfield, Minn.

A graduate of Northeast High, Hill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hill of 1301 No. 37th St. He's cited by his coach as an example of a player who never attempted soccer prior to enrolling at Carleton, "but who has developed remarkably in the space of one season, turning in an excellent performance at left half."

Other Nebraskans on the Carleton soccer team are Terry Mochier and Ken Huehn, both of Omaha.

Nebraska Halback Rex Fischer is one of five nominees for the Outstanding Back award made annually by the Midwest Chapter of the Football Writers Association of America.

The group also honors the top lineman in the Missouri Valley-Big Seven area.

Other backs in contention are Earl Lunsford of Oklahoma A&M, Tom McDonald of Oklahoma, Doug Roether of Kansas State and Bill Russell of Detroit.

Line candidates include Bo Bolinger and Jerry Tubbs of Oklahoma, Hal Burnine of Missouri, Lamar Meyer of Colorado and Ron Nery of Kansas State.

Despite Fischer's fine year with the Huskers, it's a good bet McDonald will cop the back honors, while Bolinger looks like a shoo-in for line laurels.

Baseball Players Given Promise To Reconsider

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick promised the major league player representatives and their attorney Thursday their proposals will be submitted to the club owners for reconsideration at the magnates' joint meeting here Feb. 4.

In a two-hour session with player representatives Robin Roberts of the National League and Bob Feller of the American, who were accompanied by their attorney, J. Norman Lewis, Frick listened to their gripes, clarified the owners' position, and agreed to place their demands on the agenda.

The three had requested a meeting with Frick after all 16 of the major league players' representatives met Wednesday and voted unanimously not to accept the owners' rejection of certain proposals made to them by the players.

Specifically, the players expressed dissatisfaction with the owners' decision on two proposals. One requested that the minimum salary be raised from $6,000 to $7,200. The others demanded the players be consulted and kept informed on the new World Series and All-Star radio and television contract which Frick will soon negotiate. They also want representation on the negotiating committee.

Present Contract Expires

The present six-year contract, which calls for approximately $1,000,000 a year, expires after the 1956 World Series. The players believe the new contract may bring as much as $5,000,000 per year.

After Thursday morning's session, Frick issued the following statement:

"The commissioner met Thursday with the player representatives and their attorney. The player representatives presented to the commissioner a request for reconsideration at the February meeting of the joint leagues of certain proposals made earlier by the players.

"The commissioner assured the players that their requests would be transmitted to the clubs and the matters placed on the agenda at the February meeting."

Had Little To Say

Neither the player representatives nor Lewis had much to say after the meeting with the commissioner.

"We have agreed to let the commissioner say whatever has to be said," said Feller.

"All I can say now is that it was a very amicable meeting," said Roberts.

Kentucky Edges Maryland, 62-61

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Bob O'Brien missed a tying foul shot in the last 40 second Thursday night as Kentucky survived a spirited second-half rally by Maryland to win 62-61 before 10,125, the biggest basketball crowd in the history of the state.

Kentucky, handing Maryland its first defeat in four games and winning its third in the same number, went ahead 62-70 on Vernon Hatton's basket from underneath with 2:58 to play, and then tried to freeze the ball.

Maryland got it with 1:23 to go and O'Brien was fouled going in for a shot. He made the first but missed the second.

Bob Kessler led Maryland on a great second-half try. He scored 14 points as the Terps went ahead 52-50 halfway through the last period for only the second time since it led 3-2 in the first couple of minutes.

In all, Kessler accounted for 25 points to lead both teams.

Lakers Win 135-133

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—The Minneapolis Lakers broke away in the last 2 minutes Thursday night to register a spectacular 135-133 victory over the Syracuse Nationals in a triple overtime battle.

Ed Kalafat dropped in the clinching basket with 40 seconds remaining in the third overtime after the score had been tied 17 times.

The regulation game ended with the score all-square at 105. They each scored 11 points in the first overtime and 9 in the second.

5-11 Freeman Tops Scoring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A college basketball player who can't put on an occasional 40-point scoring splurge and average better than 30 a game apparently doesn't have much chance in the scoring race these days.

Robin Freeman, the little 5-11 Ohio State sharpshooter who showed the way through the early part of last season, had a pair of 40-point nights in his first three games this season and again tops the NCAA major college scoring list.

Freeman, scoring 43 against Loyola of Chicago, 40 against Vanderbilt and 24 against Butler, has a 35.7-point average to lead defending champion Darrell Floyd of Furman and Dan Swartz of Morehead, Ky., State, each of whom has a 34.3 mark. The first NCAA Service Bureau statistics of the season include games of Dec. 10.

Four others have 30-point or better averages. They are Forest Arnold, Memphis State, 32.0; Dom Flora, Washington and Lee, 30.8; Joe Holup, George Washington, 30.3, and Tom Heinsohn, Holy Cross, 30.0.

Saddler To Defend Title On Jan. 18

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Flash Elorde, the classy Filipino fighter who decisioned world featherweight champion Sandy Saddler in Manila last summer, was signed Thursday to fight the champion for the title in San Francisco on Jan. 18.

Promoter Bennie Ford announced the 15-round Elorde-Saddler fight will be held at the Cow Palace, starting at 9 p.m. (EST). The International Boxing Club will be co-promoter.

The Manila fight in June was an overweight, 10-round non-title match.

Coach Shaken

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) — Chapman College Athletic Director Donald Perkins said his heart skipped a beat when he saw a dummy hanging from the roof of the academic building.

At second glance he noticed the dummy was wearing a chef's hat and bore a sign demanding better food.

Santee's Mile Just Off Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — Wes Santee, America's top miler, was clocked in 4:10.2 Thursday night in winning a handicap mile on a flat armory floor in a metropolitan AAU development meet. It was the second fastest flat floor race on record.

Santee, now 23 and a Marine lieutenant stationed at Quantico, Va., showed no effect over the wrangle going on regarding his amateur status as he outran 12 rivals with handicaps up to 100 yards. Passing the first two quarter poles in 61.5 seconds and 2:04, Santee busted into the lead as he hit the three-quarter pole in 3:07.2.

Out to better Don Gehrmann's world flat floor mile record of 4:10.1, although his time wouldn't be official since it was a handicap race, Santee had to settle for a 63 seconds flat last quarter. In fact the last lap of the 3-lap race was run faster by met AAU champ Ike Matza of New York University, the runner-up, who started with a 30-yard handicap. Ike picked up 5 yards on Santee over the last furlong.

Manhattan College runners were third and fourth Ed McLoughlin utilized a 75-yard start to place third and Jim Doulin was fourth with a 30-yard start. Santee won by 10 yards.

Oliver was manager of the Lincoln Athletics during the latter part of the 1947 season.

Unknown Bidder Tries To Insure Nashua

Slammin' Sam In Golf Lead

By MERCER BAILEY

SANFORD, Fla. (AP) — Slammin' Sammy Snead, the "old" West Virginia hillbilly, sliced six strokes off par for a course record Thursday and stepped out front by two strokes in the first round of the $15,000 Sanford Open Golf Tournament.

Snead, who at 43 can still give most of the younger pros lessons in how to play golf, carded 6 birdies and 12 pars for his 33-31—64. Par for the Mayfair Inn Country Club course which measures 6,205 yards is 36-34—70.

The Slammer's most spectacular shot of the round came on the 400-yard 17th, where he hit the pin with a seven iron shot from about 135 yards out. The ball stopped 10 inches from the cup for an easy birdie.

Two strokes back in a tie for second were young Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, and Ted Kroll of Bethesda, Md. Dow had 32-34, Kroll 33-33.

Tied For Fourth

Seven others, including Mike Souchak of Grossinger's, N. Y., and long-driving George Bayer of Cincinnati, were tied for fourth with 67s.

Souchak, one of the year's top money winners, matched Snead's 33 on the front nine but bogied two of the last holes. He had a bad approach shot which cost him a stroke at No. 16 and after a bad drive on No. 18 his 4-foot putt for a par hung on the lip.

Reese Okays Brooklyn Pact

BROOKLYN (AP) — Pee Wee Reese, captain of Brooklyn's world champion baseball club, became the first Dodger to sign his 1956 contract Thursday when he signed a document calling for an estimated $36,000.

It is believed that Reese was given an increase of $1,000 over his 1955 salary, which reportedly called for $35,000.

Reese, the Dodgers' "elder statesman," enjoyed a fine season in the Dodgers' pennant-winning 1955 campaign. He batted .282, a nine-point increase over his lifetime mark for 13 seasons, and was the most ever accumulated by a National League shortstop. He also leads all active players with 213 stolen bases and needs only 84 base hits to enter the select group of major leaguers with 2,000.

Guild Officially Outlawed

New York Given Support In Ring Move

NEW YORK (AP) — The state athletic commission Thursday officially amended its rules to outlaw the Boxing Guild of New York and announced support of its action already had come from officials in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Commission Chairman Julius Helfand and Commissioner Robert Christenberry completed the formalities by voting in the amendment which had been announced Monday by Helfand.

Helfand concluded a nine-page statement then with the decision that any licensee in the state who did not sever his connection with the guild by Jan. 15 would have his license suspended or revoked. In effect, this banned the guild.

After the vote in a public meeting Thursday, Helfand said copies of the amended rules would be sent to each manager, promoter and club licensed in the state. Copies were sent Monday to other commissions around the country, the National Boxing Assn., and other bodies interested in boxing he said.

"Although it's early, we already have received fine response from Commission Chairman Jim Crowley of Pennylvania and J. Marshall Boone of Maryland," said Helfand. "Crowley indicated he was in complete accord and said he intended to bring it up before the full commission on Jan. 14."

The Boxing Guild of New York is an affiliate of the International Boxing Guild. The IBG has local chapters in cities coast to coast.

Boone is chairman of the Maryland State Athletic Commission, which has a working agreement with New York, and also is chairman of the legislative committee of the National Boxing Assn.

"All states that have signed agreements with the New York State Athletic Commission must stand up and be counted," Boone wired Helfand and Chritenberry.

Meeting In Chicago

The Maryland official said the executive meeting of the NBA will be held in Chicago, Jan. 14, adding "I will do everything in my power to help."

New York, which cannot join the NBA because of a state law, has working agreements with Maryland, Missouri, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Michigan and Illinois.

In Milwaukee, Fred Saddy, a past NBA president and currently a member of the group's executive committee, said Wednesday he would recommend that the NBA recognize the suspension of the guild.

After a seven-month inquiry into boxing generally and the guild in particular, the New York commission ruled that the guild was a "detriment to the best interests of boxing."

Helfand condemned the guild, its activities and practices as "monopolistic," "vague and shadowy," "shocking," and "coercive" among other things.

Top Cage Showdown Is Possible

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — Basketball's two major tournament champions of last season, San Francisco's NCAA-winning Dons and Duquesne's NIT-triumphant Dukes, are expected to have a belated showdown Saturday night.

However, it's no lead-pipe cinch that either will hurdle tonight's opening round of DePaul University's four-team pre-holiday tourney at the Chicago Stadium.

San Francisco, currently No. 1 in the AP poll, meets undefeated Marquette, another 1954-55 powerhouse, and unbeaten Duquesne takes on always rugged DePaul, the host school.

The same four teams play Saturday night, winners from tonight meeting for the title, and the losers playing for third place.

The Dons, whose phenomenal Bill Russell is one of the greatest rebounders in cage history, never got further east than Kansas City (for the NCAA championships) last season in fashioning a 28-1 record.

Begin Long Invasion

They tote a string of 29 straight victories (including three this season) into the Chicago Stadium to begin a long eastern invasion in which Don Coach Phil Woolpert hopes to "uphold the prestige of West Coast basketball."

Although Marquette's 6-9 Terry Rand and Duquesne's versatile Si Green are capable of giving the 6-10 Russell some competition, some cage-birds suspect DePaul could cause the Dons most trouble.

DePaul's Ray Mayer, who coached another great collegiate big guy, George Mikan, is one of the bets when it comes to pointing for one game or one player.

DePaul takes on Duquesne's "keep it" team with a 3-2 record, but both losses were by close margins at Minnesota and Kentucky. Meyer will assign his clever Bill Robinzine to handle the Dukes' superb Green.

Emphasized Defensive Finesse

Duquesne has started with four straight victories including a 61-25 opening triumph over Carnegie Tech which emphasized the Dukes' defensive finesse.

San Francisco, with Russell playing only 61 minutes and averaging 20 points, has romped over Chico State, Southern California and San Francsco State.

MOTOR NOISES, ROAD RUMBLE, FLYING GRAVEL

See how 3M Rubberized "UNDERSEAL" gives you a safer ride...a quieter ride!

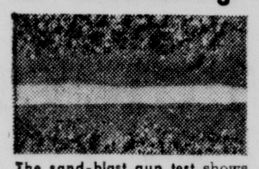

ROAD NOISES, squeaks and rattles are permanently hushed . . . "quiet as a cloud" riding pleasure is attained . . . when a full 1/8" coating of genuine rubberized "UNDERSEAL" is applied to the vulnerable underbody area.

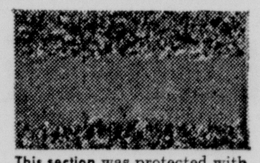

MOTOR NOISES are quieted for keeps . . . motor fumes are banned . . . when "UNDERSEAL" is applied to hood and around the motor area. Remember, "UNDERSEAL" bonds permanently to the metal . . . stays on!

All "undercoatings" are not the same!

The sand-blast gun test shows how ordinary undercoatings wear away, leaving underbody metal exposed. This fender metal was coated with black asphalt undercoating. Nine passes with the gun tore the coating right off the metal.

This section was protected with "UNDERSEAL" rubberized coating. After thirty passes with the sand-blast gun "UNDERSEAL" was still on the job. That's tougher punishment than your car gets—but "UNDERSEAL" can take it!

Holiday Business About Same As 1954 In State

By the Associated Press

A spot check of several Nebraska communities indicates that Santa's bag of gifts will be about as full as usual in 1955.

There has been considerable concern lest the recent sag in livestock prices would curtail Christmas buying, but in general reports are fairly optimistic.

General Manager George T. Wruck of the Associated Retailers of Omaha said it appeared that the livestock price drop was more of a temporary psychological fear rather than a factor materially affecting Christmas buying in Omaha.

But he said he had heard some less optimistic reports from some of the outstate towns.

Lincoln Divided

Lincoln stores were divided on whether sagging livestock prices have affected business, but the over-all estimate was for a Christmas volume equal to or better than last year.

Fremont merchants reported Christmas buying was generally off from last year's levels, and the decline was attributed to the drop in livestock prices and a short corn crop.

Norfolk merchants reported that the drop in livestock prices do not appear to have any adverse effect.

While retail business in Kearney was reported "about normal," Consumers seemed to be buying more staple goods and staying away from novelty items.

"The agricultural situation is not conductive to increased retail business volume," one retail store manager in Kearney said, noting the deterioration of farm prices while the level of consumer goods prices remained static.

50 Per Cent Farmers

"About 50 per cent of the customers in my store at any one time are farmers," he said. "And they are not as enthusiastic as they were a year ago."

Norfolk merchants found that practical items such as apparel, appear to be moving best, which appliance sales slightly off and furniture sales slightly up.

North Platte reported Christmas buying 10 to 20 per cent higher than in 1954 with possible textiles and appliances taking the lead.

Lincoln Merchants, finding business equal to or better than 1954, noted that if business holds its own with 1954 it will be a mighty good year. Lincoln shoppers appear more "quality conscious" this year and are turning away from luxury items in favor of staples.

A Few Firms Down

A small minority of Lincoln firms indicated business was off.

Wruck noted that every year since World War II, and its accompanying shortages, the Christmas shopping peak has been a little later each year as buyers worried less about supply. With business holding its own, it could well go ahead of last year when the late buyers enter the picture.

He said miscellaneous gifts and toys seem to be well toward the forefront in gift selections and clothing is going fairly well. Stores dealing in the heavy appliances have been very active in seeking credit references.

Lincoln and Omaha had plenty of parking problems, but North Platte, Kearney and Fremont said the problem was not critical.

Wruck said the Omaha public has gotten use to the idea that parking is going to be difficult in peak periods. The merchants' idea of providing free bus transportation one way for shoppers is taking hold slowly but "fairly well," he said. There has been a better reaction to keeping stores open for an extra half hour until 5:30 p.m.

Premature Opening

PAYSON, Ariz. (AP) — A grand opening of a new market was a little premature. A few days before the formal event, a tank truck backed into one of the walls and punched a hole through it.

State's Seed Law Upheld

The Lancaster District Court has upheld the Nebraska Seed Law as being constitutional and enforceable.

The ruling was made in a declaratory judgment case brought by the Nebraska Seedmen's Association against the State Department of Agriculture and Inspection.

Among the purposes of the law, the court said, is the prevention of misrepresentation of agriculture and vegetable seed by sellers to buyers to the injury and damage of the buyer.

The information required by the act to be placed on tags and labels constitutes warranties as to the kind and quality of the seed for the buyer, the court said.

The state inspection department is authorized to disapprove of any label that could have the effect of permitting sellers to avoid civil liability for misrepresentation, the court said.

The Association had claimed the law to be illegal as preventing the seller from limiting or denying liability.

The finest gift container is the one that contains the finest whiskey

One thing is sure about a gift of fine whiskey: the shape of the container adds nothing to that moment when the whiskey is poured...and tasted.

That is the reason we at Seagram concentrate our time and money first, last and always on the distilling of fine whiskey.

This must make sense to the American public for, year after year, SEAGRAM'S 7 CROWN remains America's most popular gift whiskey by an overwhelming margin. That is why you can be sure you are giving the most welcome whiskey gift of all when you give SEAGRAM'S 7 CROWN.

CD Survival Plan May Include Lincoln, Omaha, Council Bluffs

Attorney Richard Vestecka, city-county Civil Defense director, has stated that Lincoln may be approved to take part in a $10 million federally-financed Civil Defense survival project.

Lincoln could be included in the program along with Omaha and Council Bluffs, all left off of the government's original list of 16 participating cities across the country.

The giant federal program was discussed at a meeting in Omaha of local, state and regional civil defense officials.

According to Vestecka, the federal program would supplement, not duplicate, present evacuation and survival plans being made by the Lincoln civil defense organization.

The program would involve detailed studies of facilities on hand and equipment and personnel needs for mass evacuation and survival, he said. The government, he said, would pay all extra expenses of the study but co-operation would have to be given for the study from local city employes and officials.

Before any city can apply to take part in the program, the application must be approved by the mayor and governor. Meetings will be held, said Vestecka, to discuss the program with these two officials.

If Lincoln applies, said Vestecka, approval would likely be given.

Federal officials are reported receptive to including the Lincoln and Omaha area because of the location in those cities of the Strategic Air Command and the Lincoln Air Force Base.

The Omaha meeting was also attended by Mrs. Melba Scott, assistant city-county civil defense director and Austin Bacon, Nebraska director. Federal directors from Region 6, which includes Nebraska, and Region 4, which includes Iowa, were also in attendance.

Eisenhower inspected the vehicle briefly and thanked the donors for it.

Student, 34, Questioned In Nevins Slaying

OMAHA (INS)— Detectives studied blood samples found on a stairway at the east entrance of Omaha University ans questioned a 34-year-old student Thursday as they pressed their investigation of the murder of Carolyn Marie Nevins, 20-year-old honor student.

Miss Nevins, daughter of Omaha insurance adjustor Arthur J. Nevins, was found shot to death on the campus Saturday morning. She disappeared from a bus stop near the university Friday morning after waiting for a ride home with her father, who was delayed. Her body was found at the eastern edge of the campus, near where the blood spots were found.

Watched TV

The student picked up for questioning occupied a room in a house near the Nevins home. Detectives said he admitted that he did not report for work at his job Friday night, but explained he stayed home to watch the fights on television.

He said he later went to a tavern for a beer and returned to his room about 11 p.m., the time Miss Nevins was last seen alive.

Stocks Go Down 5th Straight Day

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market developed a highly selective character Thursday and closed lower despite strength in many key stocks.

There were good plus signs in most major groups. None was depressed very much.

A few stocks moved widely, but the range usually ran from $3 higher to $2 lower.

Aircrafts were singled out early in the day for buying attention on the strength of government and private orders for planes and defense items.

This is the fifth straight decline the market has made from the neighborhood of its old record high.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 20 cents at $178.20. The industrial component managed to advance 10 cents while rails were off 60 cents and utilities remained unchanged.

Volume was relatively low at 2,260,000 shares compared with 2,670,000 shares traded Wednesday.

The American Stock Exchange was mixed on volume of 850,000 shares compared with 890,000 shares Wednesday.

Wheat Loses Most As All Grains Fall

CHICAGO (AP)—All grains closed lower on the Board of Trade Thursday as a mild liquidating movement got under way shortly after the opening and continued to the finish.

The selloff was accomplished on rather light volume.

Such factors as an earlier tone in cash grains, selling of December contracts by traders who don't want to accept delivery of cash grain and mild profit taking were behind the slump.

Wheat closed 1¼-1¾ lower, corn ¼-1¾ lower, oats ⅜-⅞ lower and rye unchanged to 1½ lower.

Soybeans closed ¼-⅝ lower and lard 2 to 8 cents a hundred pounds lower.

At the outset wheat managed to add fractions onto the previous close. This was attributed largely to the new slate in Wednesday's session that wheat and corn will be made available for distribution to needy persons overseas.

This news failed to cause any excitement among professional traders.
